Mrs. Martha Leyko Describes History Of Baltimore Poles

You Must Register When You Become 18

Captain Henry C. Stanwood, Chief Director of Selective Service in Maryland, said "the obligation to register is a continuing one and must be fulfilled under the requirements of the Selective Service Act of 1948."

The young man who becomes eighteen (18) is required to register at a local board office within five (5) days of his eighteenth (18th) birthday. If he happens to be away from his home he need not return as he may register at the local board office most convenient to him and the record will be sent to the local board having jurisdiction over his home residence, if he wishes, even though it is in another State.

It is mandatory that a registrant keep his local board informed of any change in address or change in status. This requirement applies to all registrants, including those who have reached age twenty-six (26).

The Baltimore City Local Board Group Office will register men at 37 Commerce Street (2nd floor) between 8:30 A.M. and 5:00 P.M., Monday through Friday of each week, except on Federal holidays.

The County Local Boards will register men during the hours of the days posted on the local board offices. These boards are on a part-time basis only.

To Give Series Of Lectures About His Trip In Europe

Returning recently from his 52-day European trip, Congressman Garmatz decided to let the citizens of his District know of the pathetic conditions now prevailing on that continent. One of these talks will be given this Sunday, November 28, in the main room of the Young Men's Bohemian Democratic Club, 2100 Ashland Ave. at 11 A.M. A similar lecture was given last week in the Italian section of the Third District. Another talk will be given to the Polish people at some future date. The Congressman has spent a few days in Poland and has many interesting and sad experiences to describe to us, if ever given the opportunity.

EDWARD A. GARMATZ
Congressman 3rd Dist.

Visitor From Chicago

Miss Lottie Trojnowski of East Chicago, Indiana is visiting our city of Baltimore and are spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Leuczycki at Elkridge, Md.

Address by Mrs. Martha Leyko on November 21, at the CLARA BARTON VOCATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL assembly marking NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK. The assembly theme was "WE, THE PEOPLE OF BALTIMORE." Mrs. Leyko spoke of the Polish contribution to Baltimore's cultural groups and the groups they represented were: Dr. Adalbert Vohler, Lithuanian; John F. Ryan, Irish; Jimmie Wu, Chinese; Mrs. Emily I. Corwin, Estonian and Estonian Pastor Rosebo, Norwegian; Rev. Sam Gouvillek, Greek; Mrs. Emily Matkowska, Luongo, Italian; John Elezerman, German; Jose Barona Barona, Spanish. The assembly was sponsored by the Human Relations Club of the school.

"If we but take the time to analyze ourselves, WE, THE PEOPLE OF BALTIMORE, hold the keys to world peace. Blended and integrated in our daily lives is the culture brought to us by settlers whose roots stretch across the seven seas.

Severing these roots or ignoring them is to miss opportunity. Recognizing and accepting the differences, the contributions of children of other lands, is to grow in understanding and in ability to make ourselves understood.

From folk songs, dances, crafts and customs much can be learned about the people of a country. The varied origins of the people of Baltimore afford a splendid opportunity in this respect.

Because I am an American of Polish ancestry, I have been asked to tell you something of the Polish people of Baltimore. Oh, they are friendly, helpful, patriotic, thrifty, hospitable, civic-minded, self-sufficient, deeply religious, and people with a burning desire to own the house in which they live and to give their children a good education.

It was back in about 1870 that the first group of ten Polish families arrived in Baltimore from Poland and settled at Fell's Point. Soon other immigrants arrived and they moved from Southeast to East Baltimore, settling just three blocks from the waterfront. They built the church of St. Stanislaus Kostka and in the years that followed more churches and schools were erected. Today there are six Roman Catholic Polish churches, four of them with their own schools, and one Polish National Church. St. Casimir's Church at Kenwood Avenue and O'Donnell Street was awarded the prize for having given to Baltimore in a religious line the best architectural monument during the year 1926. The church is of early Fifteenth Century Renaissance style with stained glass windows which tell the story of the spiritual triumph of Poland.

The church is the hub around which revolves much of the social activity of the Polish colony. Game nights, bazaars, picnics, carnivals, suppers, societies and youth clubs keep the parishioners together.

In the early years of the colony because of language difficulties and because they found happiness from activities provided through

COALITION

To many who know not the meaning of the word "Coalition" as so often expressed in print, the meaning is simply this, "union into a body or mass; act of coalescing; union into a body; a temporary alliance of persons, parties or states for a joint action or purpose. John A. Randolph, statesman of the old school defined the word "coalition" as a "Union of the Puritans and the Blacklegs." Coalition to some politicians is a malady and known to be incurable. The disease "Coalitis" is an offspring of coalition of which some of our local political highbrows are now suffering. The late Governor Ritchie suffered from an attack of "coalitis," and called in Professor Curran for a diagnosis. The professor suggested that he take the "coalition" treatment. Governor Ritchie followed the professor's suggestion, and Harry W. Nice was elected Governor. Former Mayor Jackson also suffered from "coalitis." He too consulted Professor Curran as to this ailment, the professor suggested "Coalition" and Theodore McKeldin was elected Mayor instead of Jackson. Coalition as previously stated is a temporary ailment which attacks political incumbents prior to re-election time. It creates an imaginary fear in many candidates, and if treated in a sensible manner will adjust itself, and possibly leave those formerly suffering from this malady in a position to hold office in the future. There is only one thing that might cause "coalition" to produce fatal results, and that would come from being treated by the wrong doctor.

the church, the Polish people did not mix with other groups to a great extent. However, the succeeding generations after leaving parochial schools went on to high school and college and their circle of friends expanded to include other nationality groups, some of whom like us very much and no longer consider us "clannish."

Many Polish families have moved out of the colony but their hearts, instilled by their ancestors with the love of Polish traditions, customs, and culture, are thrilled whenever there is a celebration, such as a Paderewski or Chopin Concert, a Pulaski Day or Polish Constitution Day, and they join in the affair at the Polish Home on Broadway, the International Center of the Y.W.C.A., the Pavilion or Mound at Patterson Park or at the parish halls.

Poles want above everything else security and to them security means an owned home free of debt, and a little savings account. It was the little savings accounts that kept many Polish people off the relief roles during the depression years. They have their own building and loan associations, a newspaper printed in the English language, a professional club, students club, women's associations, and beneficial organizations which combine life insurance with social activities. They have their own home for the aged and a day nursery.

In every walk of life Polish people are to be found—in the fields of medicine, law, dentistry, pharmacy, chemistry, the arts, social service, education, radio, civic affairs, politics, nursing, journalism, the business, trades, manufacturing, merchandising, etc.

In 1936 the Museum of Art brought to Baltimoreans an exhibition of Polish arts and crafts. The exhibit was opened by the then Ambassador from Poland, Count Jerzy Potocki and those who viewed it had an opportunity to see colorful native costumes, weaving, sculpture, ceramics, commercial art, water colors, and graphic arts of a courageous people who manage to carry on in the face of repeated aggressions.

Patriotism, next to religion is foremost in the heart of a Polish person. Next to God comes his country. This was proven during World War I when very few men of Polish origin were drafted, almost 100% enlisted. Many Baltimoreans of Polish descent fought and died for America during World War II. Women too played a part in both wars. Katherine Kocyan (now Mrs. Joseph Dunkel of Topeka, Kansas) was a Baltimorean who served in the Army Nurse Corps in the first World War. Miss Cecilia Figiel, Miss Angela Lewandowski and Miss Carolyn Leyko are East Baltimore girls who served in the Nurses Corps during World War II. Miss Leyko is now a captain stationed at Puerto Rico. There may be others, but these I know personally.

Polish Christmas and Easter customs are still observed in Baltimore. The Vigil of Christmas is when the wafer called "opatek" is shared with the entire household from master to guests and servants. Sharing the wafer symbolizes brotherly love, good fellowship, unity, equality, peace and forgiveness.

Feasting is an important part of Polish life so at Easter time baskets laden with kielbasa (sausage), butter ham, lamb, fruit loaf (babka) and gayly decorated eggs are taken to the church on Holy Saturday to be blessed by the priest before eating on Easter Sunday. Polish egg decorating is a highly developed folk art, entailing a delicate and complicated process in which waxing and dyeing are alternated several times.

Baltimoreans have been introduced to such Polish dishes as barszcs, pierogi, goembie, bigos, beet soup, etc. and it is not unusual to hear Mrs. Maguire across the street ask Mrs. Adamska for her favorite recipe for homemade Polish sausage. In fact, Polish dishes have found such favor among Americans that a group of women of Polish descent from Minnesota have compiled a cook book entitled "TREASURED POLISH RECIPES FOR AMERI-

What Price Shall We Pay For National Health?

Mrs. Virginia Starr Freedom, National Press Chairman of the National Women's Party, gave a talk on the subject of National Health at the meeting of the Women's Club at Elkton, Md., on Tuesday, October 18. The speech of Mrs. Freedom was as follows:

Mr. Truman's proposal for compulsory health insurance, S. 5 introduced in the Senate and House on January 5, 1949, deserves far more attention than it has been given.

I believe that the press, radio, and other means of communication have a duty to explain the various bills that are pending before Congress to the public, in a factual, statistical manner, avoiding any form of emotionalism. There is no other way in which the American public can judge whether or not it wishes certain legislation to pass or be defeated.

It is perfectly possible that a majority of the population in the United States prefers Socialism,—but as Senator Radcliffe said in referring to the so-called "Full Employment Bill" in 1946—"Let us call these measures by their proper names, and then vote upon it." If the majority desires a Socialist state to replace our present system, the will of the majority will prevail.

I have a special reason to refer to former Senator Radcliffe's words in regard to this subject,—because compulsory health insurance is a socialist measure.

First, I think I had better outline the three health plans that are before Congress at the present time:

1—the Truman plan: Health insurance, compulsory for everybody, to start July 1, 1951. Workers, employers each pay 1% payroll tax on the first $4,800 of wages; the self-employed—storekeepers, doctors, dentists, accountants, garage-owners, etc pay 3% on net income up to $4,800.

Medical care, to include: examinations, doctors' visits, limited dental treatment, 60 days' hospitalization; home-nursing, laboratory, x-ray, ambulance service; medicines that are expensive (not the cheaper ones) hearing aids, wheel chairs, eyeglasses, crutches, etc.

Federal subsidies for medical schools, students, local health units, hospital construction, rural doctors, etc. Cost, $6 billion a year—running to $18 billion a year.

2—the Donnell-Smith-Taft plan: No compulsory insurance, no special tax. People unable to pay all costs of medical care are offered required medical aid free from State managed health agencies. The Federal Government to split costs with the States.

Just A Few Little Things

Movie Actress Joyce Brainerd won a divorce in Los Angeles. She testified that when her husband came home at night he kissed the dog before kissing her or their baby.

A Matter Of Taste

A group of British scientists sampled 134 different kinds of eggs. Their conclusions—the emu, an ostrichlike Australian bird, lays the tastiest egg in the world; the North American eastern house wren lays the worst-tasting egg.

So Big—

Jimmy Hollister, 15, was unable to start back to school this year. The Detroit youth has outgrown his artificial leg and his parents say they cannot afford to buy him a new one.

—And Not So Big

In Salt Lake City—a 1 1/4-pound baby girl to Mr. and Mrs. T. Ray Allen. The months-and-a-half premature baby is 12 inches long, with arms and legs the size of pencils.

For Women Only

A millionaire industrialist who bought up old homes for veterans bequeathed the buildings to each of his female tenants. Women, the will of the Newark (N.J.) philanthropist stated, "... should have a measure of independence."

Well, I Swear

A National Labor Relations Board trial examiner defended swearing as a lost art. Cussing by an employe of the Indianapolis Glove Company, the examiner contended, was no reason for discharging the employe.

No Place To Hide

Jacksonville police trapped a bendit suspect in the morgue after a two-hour chase. By flashlight, the Florida police began feeling bodies until they came to a warm one.

Skunked

Warren Westphal, of Teaneck, N.J., made the news with plenty of scents. Dozens of skunks moved under his house and are multiplying faster than he can trap them.

Spare The Rod

A teacher in Richmond, Ind., was convicted of assault for paddling one of her pupils. The child, an 11-year-old girl, told the court she was paddled "because couldn't pronounce the word 'education.'"

MARKET SCENE

From the Polish "Na Straganie" of Jan Brzechwa

By FRANK DANIELSKI

On a stand come market play.
The vegetable kingdom thus to say:
"Mr. Dill, please lean thither, Poor fellow, you do wither."
"My dear Chives, 'tis small wonder,
I'm stuck here since Tuesday—and longer."
"To this adds Kohlrabi, ever handy:
"Look at Turnip—so strong and dandy."
Mr. Bean pats Turnip's belly:
"How goes it, old sowbelly?"
"Thanks, Mr. Bean, life is swell
When one is well, when one is well."
"But Mr. Parsley—more on the brink, Thin and pale—can't sleep a wink."

"—That's awful leery,"
Sighed Mr. Celery.

The Beet shies away from the Onion,
But Onion sticks to him like a burion.
"My dear Beet, my red one,
Take me for your wife, hon."
Mr. Beet holds up his nose:
"Get going, you don't smell like a rose.
Give me a wife, red as a beet
Not a stinker to make all weep."

"That's awful leery,"
Sighed Mr. Celery

Then came the voice of Lima Bean:
"Miss, what's the idea of sneakin' in?"
"Nobody's scared of your shonts,"
Answered quickly Brussel Sprouts.
"Just look at her, so frail like lace,"
The Carrot quipped with a wry-face.
"Let Cabbage judge ahead!"
"What, Cabbage? The empty head?"
And Cabbage spoke, all aghast:
"My dears, why all the stupid blast?
Why all the foolish, babling noise,
In soup we all shall perish—no other choice."

Sighed Mr. Celery:
"That's awful leery."

Need Information?

15 U. N. Centers Dispense It Now

Fifteen major cities throughout the world now have United Nations "Information Centers" whose function is to disseminate, through all available media, information on the activities of the United Nations and specialized agencies.

The largest of the Centers is located in the Palais des Nations, the former headquarters of the League of Nations at Geneva, which serves as the European "branch headquarters" of UN.

Six other Information Centers are maintained in Europe, one each in London, Paris, Copenhagen, Moscow, Warsaw and Prague.

One Center, located in Cairo, Egypt, serves the Middle-Eastern area.

In the Asian-Pacific-Australian region, the UN maintains three Information Centers. That at New Delhi serves India, Burma and Ceylon; that at Shanghai serves China, Thailand and the Philippines; and that at Sydney covers Australia and New Zealand.

Three additional Centers serve Latin America: one each in Mexico City, Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires.

In the United States, in addition to its interim headquarters at Lake Success, UN maintains an Information Center in Washington, D. C.

Staffs of the Centers range from two to ten persons, except the Geneva office which has 17. Each office is equipped to supply

U.N. Unit To Aid Polish Medical Institutions

Warsaw, Poland — Technicians from all over Europe will soon be able to pursue studies in biochemistry and venereal disease control at Polish institutions under a plan to be inaugurated here next year with the help of the United Nations World Health Organization.

Biochemistry, in which rapid advances were made during the war and postwar years, now occupies an important place in relation to modern medicine. Poland's lead in modern methods of venereal disease control by mass attack is now being followed by many other European countries.

The world health organization, officials here said, has been asked to co-operate in providing equipment, technical advice and the teaching staff.

Will you leave these to your children?

Men have died to leave you these 4 symbols of freedom:

A door key—your right to lock your door against illegal government force and prying.

(Fourth Amendment, U. S. Constitution)

A Holy Bible—symbol of your right to worship as you wish.

(First Amendment, U. S. Constitution)

A pencil—freedom to speak or write what you think, whether you agree with the government or not.

(First Amendment, U. S. Constitution)

And a free ballot—your right to choose the kind of government you want—your protection against government tyranny.

(Article I, U. S. Constitution)

THESE SYMBOLS have no meaning in countries where government controls everything—for there the individual man or woman has no freedoms.

But there are people who are trying to give the U. S. government more and more control over American life. "Let the government start," they say, "by taking over certain industries and services—the doctors, the railroads, the electric light and power companies."

Most of these people—like most Americans—don't want a socialistic U. S. A. They have other reasons for government control. But when government, moving step by step, controls enough things, you have a socialist government, whether you want it or not. You'll be controlled, too. Then what freedoms will you be able to pass on to your children?

"MEET CORLENN ARCHER" for delightful comedy. WCAO every Sunday 9:00 P.M. Listen to the Official U. S. Weather Bureau Forecast daily, 7:05 A. M., WBAL.

Seton Institute

The Seton Institute had its origin in July, 1834 when the Board of the Maryland Hospital, inspired by the heroic sacrifices of the Sisters during the dreadful cholera epidemic of 1830, requested the Superiors at Emmitsburg to send Sisters to take over the administration of their general hospital which had among its patients many who were mentally ill.

In 1840 the Sisters terminated their services with the Maryland Hospital and opened an institution under their own jurisdiction exclusively for the mentally ill. The building was a small two story dwelling on Front Street, Baltimore. It was named "Mount Saint Vincent." In a short time the limited facilities proved absolutely inadequate and in 1844 another property, known as Mount Hope College, was purchased. It was located on North Avenue near Lawrence and Bolton Streets. The name "Mount Hope" appertained to the Sisters and so they named the new hospital "Mount Hope Institution." However, in the course of another decade the demands made it necessary to seek larger accommodations and more extensive grounds. The result was the purchase of the Meredith Tract in 1856. Here, a large, commodious, substantial building was erected which has served the needs of the institution ever since. It was named Mount Hope Retreat. Several acres of the large tract of land which surrounded the building were landscaped and thus transformed into a scene of remarkable beauty. Another portion of the tract was used for farming while the remainder served for orchards and grazing fields for the pedigreed herd.

In 1908 a book entitled "A Mind That Found Itself" was published. This book revolutionized the outlook on mental illness and brought into being The National Committee for Mental Hygiene. Since that time the progression of psychiatry has had remarkable development. Through scientific research rapid progress was made by the members of this profession in the discovery and use of treatments for the mentally ill which have produced most unusual results in relieving and restoring to normal social living innumerable persons who were victims of this illness.

The Administration at Mount Hope Retreat kept pace with this movement and introduced into its program modern methods as they developed. However, in the early part of this decade these authorities became acutely aware that nothing less than a complete reorganization of the policies of Mount Hope Retreat were necessary in order to meet the demands for proficient psychiatric care.

In the year 1945, the initial steps for this reorganization were taken. In April, 1945, "Mount Hope Retreat" became history and "The Seton Institute" was born. The Seton Institute is unique among other hospitals for the mentally ill in its policy of maintaining a Visiting Staff of twenty-five psychiatrists. The Resident Staff usually numbers about twelve psychiatrists. The visiting staff psychiatrist has the privilege of treating his case throughout the period of hospitalization if so desired by patients or relatives.

The Daughters of Charity of Saint Vincent DePaul are in charge of The Seton Institute. They are very happy with the result of the new regime since it has been the means of restoring so many patients to mental health thus bringing happiness not only to the patient but to their relatives and friends as well. They are also happy that through the educational program of the hospital a goodly number of doctors and nurses are made ready for the labor of this vast field.

Accidents Are Still Caused By Poor Vehicle Condition, Council Asserts

The number of fatal accidents involving unsafe vehicle condition rose alarmingly during and after World War II, but recent figures of the National Safety Council show the first break in this trend as the first break in this trend as more and more new cars appear on the road.

However, the council said the percentage of fatal accidents in which mechanical condition is involved still is twice as high as it was in 1941, according to the best available information.

The importance of mechanical condition in preventing traffic accidents has resulted in a special emphasis program scheduled by the council for May to call nationwide attention to the necessity of vehicle inspection.

Determining the role of mechanical failure in an accident often is difficult because such failure becomes part of the wreckage, according to the council. Authorities estimate, however, that mechanical failure is the direct cause of from three to 11 per cent of all highway accidents.

The council says it is not possible to definitely evaluate the effectiveness of motor vehicle inspection laws. The same safety consciousness which brought about the inspection law undoubtedly brought about the improvement of all elements of the accident prevention program.

Good Brakes Essential

However, one of the findings of the recent nation-wide police brake check program was that in states with good motor vehicle inspection programs, a very low percentage of motor vehicles checked had inadequate brakes.

In one state not requiring periodic inspection, poor brakes were

Along Our Street with Aunt Penny

On my way to the market this morning, I noticed a telephone truck parked in front of Jane Paul's house. I wasn't surprised when Jane called this afternoon to say she'd gotten her telephone.

She said she is on a party line, the same as I am. The telephone installer had explained that about seven out of every ten families with telephones are on party lines. Jane said if it weren't for party-line service, she would have had to wait a lot longer for her telephone.

That reminded me of something I was reading in the newspaper last night about the telephone company's construction and improvement program. The news article said that "in spite of the rapid progress being made on this program, some people are still waiting for telephones." It went on to say that "the company was making the widest possible use of party-line facilities because party lines mean more service for more people, sooner." 30,000 Venerate St. Francis Relic

More than 30,000 Baltimoreans attended week-end veneration ceremonies at St. Ignatius Church, where the right hand and forearm of St. Francis Xavier, Sixteenth-Century Jesuit missionary has remained since Friday.

The arm of the saint who died in 1552 was brought here Friday morning after having remained in Washington for public veneration. Arch-bishop Keough presided at the first solemn service held at St. Ignatius Friday evening.

Still remarkably preserved, the arm has been taken from Rome only twice since 1514. The first time was in 1922, when it was taken on a Pilgrimage through Spain.

The second occasion was early this year, when the arm was taken to Japan for the four-hundredth anniversary of St. Francis' arrival there to begin the missionary work in the Far East and India which earned him the title "Apostle of the Indies."

CANS." This book came off the press last Christmas and is already in its third printing. (If anyone is interested in getting a copy, please give me a call at Eastern 6603.)

The Polish displaced persons who have come to Baltimore in recent months have revived an interest in the unusual and elaborate embroidery of Poland. Gay peasant blouses with full-sleeves and multicolored cross-stitching are fast finding favor among Baltimore's younger set.

Last year for the first time in the history of the public school system a Polish language class was included in the curriculum. At the Patterson Park Evening Adult Center, under the direction of a teacher who returned to her native city after many years in Poland, the language is being taught. The method used mixes grammar with art appreciation, legends and songs. One of the lessons took the students on an imaginary trip to Poland where they visited Torun, the birthplace of Copernicus, father of modern astronomy. Copernicus, like Chopin and Madame Curie was a Pole. Not all of the students in the class are of Polish descent. Some have married into Polish families and wish to learn the language so that they may be able to carry on conversations with non-English speaking members of the family.

The hand full of Poles who settled at Fells Point brought to Baltimore the customs, traditions, arts, nationally foods, the polka, oberek, trojak and mazurkas, etc. of the old country. Blended with similar contributions from other lands, they provide a means for a better understanding among nationality groups. Let's learn all we can about our neighbors whose ancestors had a hand in the success of Baltimore and America."

FOLKWAYS ENRICH AMERICA

The United States is unique in the fact that its cultural diversity is a recently transplanted diversity—from many peoples one nation speaking one language. This uniqueness of culture, a tradition of individual independence which was in part a product of economic self-sufficiency and isolation, has given place to a collective interdependence.

The immigrant (whether he arrived recently or in colonial days) carried with him something of the culture of his natal land. These ties brought us the song of the voyageur, the brisk lilt of the Creole song, the graceful melodic curve of the Latin-American melody, the plaintive cadence of the spiritual. There was, especially in more recent years, the over-enthusiastic desire of the immigrant to conform, a carelessness or indifference to the loyalties of parents or grandparents. This was made more intense by the contempt of the American herd for anything different or foreign.

It was made doubly complex by the fact that our composers went to Germany, later to France, only to return and imitate European models at the same time that most of us scorned the folkways of those humbler Europeans who had come to our shores. Yet something persisted, some echo of the songs sung by peoples of many tongues, something that we can hear in Farwell's "Sourwood Mountain," in Goldmark's "Negro Rhapsody," in Chavez' "Sinfonia India," in MacDowell's "Second (Indian) Suite," in Gotschalk's "La Savane, Ballade Creole," something which is regional and American and at the same time English or Negro, Mexican, Indian or Creole, something which shows that we are richer for that wealth of folksong which is part of our national heritage.—From "The Human Side of Music," by Charles W. Hughes. Copyright, 1948, by Philosophical Library, Inc.

HOLY ROSARY WAR MOTHERS PLAN DANCE

The Polish War Mothers of Holy Rosary Church will hold a dance on Saturday, November 19, at 8:00 p.m., in the Polish Home Hall, 510 So. Broadway. The purpose of the event is to raise funds for erection of a monument in commemoration of War Heroes, for which plans are being made.

Mrs. M. Jarosinska, president of the group, asked the Polish Home Sport Club to decorate the hall for the affair. The people, young and old alike, will have the opportunity to come to this dance and swing with the Melody of a Polish-American orchestra. Come and join the Polish War Mothers in real Polish dance music and well balanced program.

So again a reminder—that the dance is going to be this Saturday night, to which the whole Polish Colony is invited. As in previous years a large attendance is expected at the affair.

Tickets may be obtained from any of the members of the organization, or at the box office on the night of the dance.

They are a world touring outfit, and have performed in such renowned and far off places, as India, Persia and South Africa.

Polish Baby Is Born On Scandinavian Plane

On November 15th, at 12:55 A.M. (New York Time), a Polish child was born on board a Scandinavian Airline DC-6 between Prestwick (Scotland) and Sydney, Nova Scotia, enroute to New York City.

The child is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph and Leokadia Rolbiecki. The father is a farmer and both are Polish. In addition to the parents on board the plane were three other Rolbiecki children: Aloysius, 6; Bobumilla, 3; and Urusia, 15 months.

Aboard the plane were 52 passengers and 9 crew members. Captain Tor Stensrud was in charge and the hostess was Barbro Wenngren.

The baby on arrival was brought to St. Vincent's Hospital, 12th Street and Seventh Avenue in New York City. The family stayed at the Chelsea Hotel at the expense of the National Catholic Welfare Conference. The NCWC is also the sponsor of the other DP's aboard the aircraft. The Polish Immigration Committee headed by Rev. Burant, met the plane at the airport.

As far as the citizenship of the baby, an interesting point was brought up. According to international law a child born under such circumstances as today's event, assumes the citizenship of the father. However, although the parents are Polish there may be some question of their citizenship because they are Polish Displaced Persons. The plane on which the child was born is Norwegian. However, Scandinavian Airlines is a combination of Danish, Norwegian and Swedish Airlines which have pooled their resources to form a combine which operates throughout the world.

Avoca, Pa.—Mrs. Jadwiga Slazky, this city recently observed her 105th birthday. She wanted to spend her birthday by going out for mushrooms, but chased her mind when she thought of her old age.

Arthur Bliss Lane, former Ambassador to Poland held a press conference at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York, Monday, November 21. This was called in order to make investigation of the Katyn Massacre.

To this conference came about 150 representatives, such as railroad workers and social-national workers from the countries, which are now behind the iron curtain.

The representatives of the press received copies of a letter inviting Wyszynski, Minister of Foreign Affairs and copies of an address of Captain Mlynarski, who escaped death at the Katyn Massacre.

The conference was opened by the address of Arthur Bliss Lane, chairman of the committee. Former Ambassador Lane expressed his satisfaction that the meeting was so well attended by representatives of press and the general public. This good attendance testifies to the good of the interest of the American people in getting the facts of this horrible crime.

The chairman pointed out also that this investigation will have a tremendous effect on other countries. Then he related details of the savage killing of 4,000 Polish officers, and the disappearance of another 10,000 Polish prisoners elsewhere in the U.S.S.R. during the last war. Among them were hundreds of Polish doctors, professors and engineers. This group constituted the very finest minds in Poland, who had gained the admiration of other countries for their accomplishments.

Soviet prosecutor Rudenko insisted on including the Katyn Massacre, as a German War crime, at the Nuremberg trials. When the indictments were given the Katyn Massacre was not included. After four years so much new material was gathered that the committee felt that the case should be reopened anew.

Ambassador Lane and Captain Mlynarski interpolated the questions of those that were present at the conference.

Among those present from press and other social-national workers and guests were: Stanislaus Mikolajczyk, former Prime Minister of Poland, Michael Tomala, former lieutenant and one who served as an Embassy official during World War, Bronislaw Mlynarski, former captain in the Polish Army, Mr. J. Morawski, and Mr. Poplawski. The committee personnel, serving with Mr. Lane on ACIKM are the following: Max Eastman, vice chairman; Dorothy Thompson, vice chairman; Montgomery M. Green, treasurer; Julius Epstein, executive secretary; Constantine Brown, George Greel, Rt. Rev. John F. Cronin, Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan, Allen W. Dulles, James A. Farley, Blair F. Gunther, Sol M. Levitas, Claire Booth Luce, Charles Rozmarek, George E. Sokolsky, Virginia Starr Freedom and James A. Walsh.

What's Wrong With Our Congress?

The Maryland Division of Polish-American Congress, composed of representatives of Polish Organizations in Baltimore, was organized about five years ago. At the time of its establishment, there was great interest in this organization. The representatives of the Polish National Alliance, Polish Roman Catholic Union, Polish Home Club and other patriotic or civic or political bodies, showed great interest and did good work in the interest and cause for which the Congress was organized. But lately, it seems to us, that everything is not as things should be. It seems as all of the leaders of the above mentioned organizations have either fallen asleep or are "hypnotized" by one individual and have left everything to this one person to run things as he wants to run them for his own political advantage.

That's not the way it was planned to be when the Congress started to function in Baltimore.

At the beginning any manifestation, celebration or other affair sponsored by the Congress, drew thousands of Baltimoreans of Polish extraction. But, look at what's taking place now.

Last Sunday, the Congress called a Mass Meeting in the Polish Home Hall on Broadway. A great Polish General, patriotic as they come, was invited to make the principal address. He accepted the invitation and really showed-up, but who was in the hall to hear him? Just a scattering hundred and some, for if we said two hundred, we would be telling an untruth. Now shall we tell you why? Because of the clownish way of the man who was the chairman of this affair, and a few of his followers, who have not the nerve to say "no" when he wants them to say "yes".

This can't go on much longer! How can we claim that the Congress represents 75,000 people of Polish extraction, and have an affair of such importance as last Sunday's publicized in the daily press and boast that it is so, and then only a few make their presence.

Do you think that the State and City representatives who attended this meeting last Sunday, will believe what you are saying?

It's time for somebody to wake-up and do something about this prevailing situation as it is now. And it can be done.

The year is coming to an end. Every organization is having their annual election this month. It is up to these organizations to pick delegates to the Congress. It is the duty of the delegates to attend the meetings of the Congress and see to it that the officials of the Congress in the coming year, will not be as selfish as some of the ones at the head of the Congress this year, and that the new officials in 1950 will work for all the Polish people and not let any one person run this GREAT Organization for his own personal ambitions.

What Price Shall We Pay For National Health?

The general idea behind the entire program is, of course, that the government shall own the means of production, the schools, hospitals, and houses,—and dole them out on an equal basis with the aid of several million government employees.

This system has a great appeal to millions of people who feel defeated in the world today.

My only complaint is that it is less than fair for our Administration not to outline its goal clearly, so that the average voter will know what he is voting for or against.

As a matter of economics and history, we can't eat our cake and have it, too. If we expect the government to intervene to see that we are clothed, fed, and housed, we must also expect the government to guide all of our activities, as a parent does a child. A minor child usually has security, but it does not have freedom of action. This is an exact analogy with the role of the citizen in a paternalistic state.

Let us take a few statistics on medical care, while we try to answer the question as to whether the whole nation cannot afford medical care.

The United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, a government agency, issued an official pamphlet on January 1, 1947.

"On January 1, 1947, about 40 million persons, or considerably more than 1 out of every 4 in the population, were enrolled in organizations providing hospital service on a pre-payment basis or were covered by insurance protection against the cost of that service, not only in hospitals, but also in their homes and places of work."

The total number of persons now covered in 1946 by all voluntary plans is 55,000,000 for hospitalization and 37 million for surgical or medical care, according to the report of the Council on Medical Service on April 15, 1949. This is roughly one-third of the population.

In 1946, 11 States made no contributions to support of local health units. The contribution of the 37 States that did aid local health services averaged 3 cents for every individual in the population served. Officials say adequate local health services cost about $1.50 per capita per person. This is a far cry from the $90.00 a year required by the Truman plan. What on earth does the Administration expect to do with the difference in amount. It is a huge sum to be collected in taxes, for which no adequate service can be returned to the taxpayer.

Laboratories and research institutions are attracting congressional favor. These research agencies are taking a tremendous role in advancing medical knowledge. Research may point the way to cures and preventive techniques that will raise general health and lower medical costs. Some startling developments in cancer and heart research just announced have been partly financed by Federal grants.

The Armed Forces already maintain sizable medical-research programs. The Atomic Energy Commission's distribution of isotopes is a tremendous aid for medical research... all of these are proper spheres for the Federal Government under a progressive system to give assistance.

Prevention of disease is just as important in medicine, as education is important in developing good attitudes of citizenship, in producing citizens who are free from racial or religious intolerance.

The Truman compulsory health insurance is sadly lacking in the realization of the importance of the role of research and preventive medicine. One reason is probably that the entire Plan was drawn up without consulting a single physician or medical scientist. It is a program of laymen, who are notoriously ignorant of the real needs of progressive medicine, and who certainly could not diagnose or prevent disease.

As in all controversial issues, there is a middle of the road method, which I believe would bring the most improvement in medical care to the most people.

It is a nation-wide network of diagnostic clinics—Federally supported, but locally controlled, where the people can go to find out what ails them for a price they can pay, or free of charge if they cannot pay.

The cost of these clinics could be divided among the Federal, state, and local governments, private sources, and patient fees.

These clinics could turn the patients over to their family physicians or local hospitals, which would continue to operate on their own as at present. If the patient could not afford the full treatment fee—or if the cost were not covered by his voluntary health insurance, the same government and private sources would make up the deficit.

The plan has at least 8 advantages over Federal compulsory health tax insurance:

- 1—It would avoid the creation of a Federal medical bur-

- 2—Shorten the period of care under a physician by sending the patients to the private physicians with the illness as a day diagnosed. This would cut the cost of treatment for the individual and allow doctors to handle more patients.
- 3—Reduce the cost of universal health protection, hence keep taxes at a minimum.
- 4—Preserve the present doctor-patient relationship.
- 5—Encourage doctors to move into rural areas (ignored in the Truman plan).
- 6—Permit local concentration on peculiar local health problems such as tuberculosis in the South, heart disease in New England.
- 7—Provide a check against unnecessary operations, which needlessly fill scarce hospital beds.
- 8—Prevent local people from losing their initiative and relying wholly on the Federal Government for medical help.

It could be put into effect, largely within 18 months from this date, with our present trained physicians, and would bring tremendous improvement in our knowledge of the health problems of the various areas and localities of the nation.

If the weakest link in our medical practice is the diagnostic facility, all the citizens working together would be only too glad to contribute to remedying the situation with Federal aid. And, most important, such action would be in the American tradition, where each of us would feel we had done our part in improving medical service.

PLEASE!

Statement Of Bronislaw Mlynarski

former captain in the Polish Army and one of the survivors of the massacre of Polish war Prisoners:

I was one of the few Polish soldiers who escaped the mass slaughter of over 15,000 fellow prisoners of war in the Soviet camps of Starobielsk, Kozielek and Ostashkow. I was one of the few who came out alive from behind the barbed wires guarded by the Soviet NKVD. . . I have not spoken until today. I have kept quiet but now, for the first time I will keep a promise I had given to my less fortunate fellow prisoners, namely to tell the world the truth. Providence chose to spare me from the fate of the others. Now I can fulfill my obligation . . .

I am one of the officers of the Polish Army who were captured and disabled by the Soviet Red Army that invaded Poland on September 17, 1939. Shortly after I was captured together with thousands of other Polish soldiers, we heard the ominous word by a Soviet Commander: "From now on you are all prisoners of war of the Soviet Red Army!"

Thus, for the first time, I heard the word "war" and the words "Prisoner of War" from a Soviet soldier whom we believed faithfully and sincerely to have crossed the Polish Soviet border in great strength in order to fight the Germans. We thought that the Soviet troops had come to our help to establish together with us a united front of the Slavs against the Nazi invaders. We were greatly mistaken.

The discovery of the mass murder graves in the Katyn Forest shocked the whole world. Germany accused the Soviets of committing the unbelievable crime. The Soviets denied this and in turn accused the Germans of having committed the atrocities. The grim problem was never solved. The Katyn Forest criminals are still at large.

The discussion of the slaughter, following the German revelation in March, 1943, was intentionally banned from any elaborate comments in the Allied press. It was consciously hushed up during the Nuremberg Trials when the world guardians of equity were expected to inflict penalties on all major war criminals in the European Theatre.

With its mystery and silence and its crushing dimensions, the tragedy of the Polish Prisoners of War in USSR still towers far above all other military crimes committed in World War II. The premeditated murder of

- 12 Generals
- 306 Colonels and Lieutenant Colonels
- 650 Majors
- 2250 Captains and Captains of Cavalry
- 5690 Lieutenants and Second Lieutenants, and
- 6500 N. C. O's

totaling 15,300 Prisoners of War, is a crime unknown in the history of modern warfare.

Out of the total 15,700 officers and men confined in three camps: Starobielsk, Kozielek and Ostashkow the only ones to be officially called by the Soviets "P.O.W. Camps", I was among 400 men who survived, and even in the later course of events this small batch melted to less than 300. I was confined to the STAROBIELSK camp, and out of the 3,920 Officers imprisoned there, I was among 79 who escaped the slaughter.

Contrary to the customs of war we were guarded behind the barbed wire by armed Police forces, the N.K.V.D., instead of the Red Army units, which is far from being the same. We were denied means of appealing to POW's international rights, nor could we ask for help through the International Red Cross, for the Soviets have never recognized such institutions.

I was a prisoner behind the walls of the STAROBIELSK MONASTERY during seven and a half months, from the very first day of its existence—September 30, 1939, up to its last day, MAY 12th, 1940, when the heavy gate of an already empty camp was slammed behind me. After these desperately difficult months, on April 5th, 1940, the arrow of Fate abruptly altered its course. On that date, prompted by a sense of evil forebodings, fifteen Officers who had closely united in brotherhood through suffering and distress, gave each other a solemn vow that if one of them should live to see freedom he would remember the others. I was among the fifteen that joined hands on that crucial morning of April 5th—and this proved to be our parting. For Providence chose to spare only me, and to restore to me alone that precious freedom . . . and life. Now I can fulfill my promise to them.

Knowing the Russian language thoroughly, as well as the Russian mind, character, and country, I was able to judge dispassionately facts and events as they unfolded in the STAROBIELSK camp. I could perceive the complexities of the relationship of the Soviet fanatic masters toward their hapless victims, who not only were considered as dangerous military adversaries, but above all, because they bore the imaginary stigma of class foes, enemies of the people and of a force hostile to the Soviet social order.

It was already in the ultimate period of our confinement in STAROBIELSK that my evil presentiments took shape. I persistently collected in my memory bits of evidence cropping up abundantly, and later, during the long and severe months in the GRIA-ZOVIVETZ camp these irregular pieces fitted into the frame of an imminent tragedy.

On November 1st, 1941, in the town BUZULUK Chkalov Oblast H.Q. of the Polish Army in the USSR, I made my report on the ominous fate of the missing Prisoners of War to General W. Anders, C-in-C of the Polish Forces in USSR. It was the first report ever written on that subject. This report served. General W. SIKORSKI, Polish Prime Minister during his conference with STALIN at the Kremlin on December 4th, 1941. It served the Polish Ambassador in Moscow to exert constant pressure on V. MOLOTOV and A. VISHINSKI. It helped General Anders to learn the facts and figures, for being imprisoned individually for the past two years at the Lubianka Prison in Moscow, he was not aware of any major events. It served me to write a report via military routine to the President of the United States and to the Prime Minister of Great Britain.

Secrets Of Polish Cookery Given In Interesting Book

Secrets of Polish cookery are being revealed to Baltimoreans through a little red book whose cover has a picture of a lively little Polish peasant carrying a tray of tasty barszcz and other famous dishes.

The book is "TREASURED POLISH RECIPES FOR AMERICANS," a collection of famous dishes, cooking tips and household hints handed down by inspired and ingenious chefs. It is the work of the PoJanie club, an organization of St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minnesota women of Polish birth or descent.

It is the first complete, cloth-bound book of Polish cookery in the English language published in the United States. There are brief stories of Polish festivities and customs, such as Christmas Eve (Wigilia), Harvest Festival (Dzielniki), Easter traditions, and others.

In addition to detailed instructions for everything from piquant appetizers (zakuski), canapes (kanapki), soups, feathery pastries and desserts, within the pages are cherished secrets for preparing the famous barszcz, bigos, kiszka, czarnaia, pierogi, nalezniki, pazurecki, Polish sausage (kiebasa), and galareta.

To the Pole, bread is the holiest of all edibles. He has had to do without it so many times that it is never wasted. Left-over bread is dried completely and put through a grinder and used for binding, thickening, lining of baking pans and garnish. The little book gives many recipes for using left-over bread and other foods.

American housewives interested in new foods with foreign flavor will want this book and persons of Polish background will enjoy and treasure it. It is an ideal gift for any occasion, like Christmas, birthday, Mother's Day, or as an appreciation gift.

Baltimoreans may order their copies, which sell at $2.75 each, from: Mrs. Anna Leyko Suladowski, 2904 O'Donnell Street, or Skozilas Food Market, 3120 O'Donnell Street, corner Robinson.

SOMETHING FOR... THE GIRLS

Wedding Why's And Wherefore...

Why a Diamond? The diamond was called the Venus stone by the ancients to compare its shining beauty with the planet Venus in the evening sky. Like this goddess, who was dedicated to love, the diamond in time became associated with sweethearts, and its mysterious inner fire was likened to the equally mysterious fires of passion. The Greeks called it "adamas"—eternal or unchanging. Probably the ancient name came from the character of the stone—the hardest substance in nature.

Look Magazine Has Illustrated Feature On Polish Wedding At Westfield, Mass.

The Dec. 6 issue of Look, the picture magazine, carries an illustrated feature entitled "Polish Wedding in New England."

The story was brought into The Journal's offices by A. A. Fino, Look's district manager and Hensell Richards, of American News Co., Scranton.

The piece tells the story of the marriage of Andrew Pavlica and Leokadia Taudel at Westfield, Mass. Describing the festivities it reports: "Before the young couple were wed, the groom drank a toast from the bride's slipper, the bride had her braids cut and both the bride and groom sang solos.

Lucille Watson is in the middle in this scene between Linda Darnell and Paul Douglas in "Everybody Does It," the hilarious Twentieth Century-Fox comedy which comes to the Broadway Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The "Letter To Three Wives" pair add plenty of zest to the action in this new film.

Everybody will have a singing good time at the Broadway Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday watching the fun and tongue-in-cheek humor come tumbling from the screen throughout every minute of "Everybody Does It."

Paul Douglas sings, Linda Darnell hits operatic high notes and, believe it or not, Celeste Holm warbles off key. They all do it in "Everybody Does It" and the audience shrieked at this explosively funny picture.

It is inevitable that Linda and Paul should be teamed again after their success in "A Letter To Three Wives" and Twentieth Century-Fox found the right vehicle for them in this James M. Cain story about a frustrated soprano and a house-wrecking husband who turns into a smashing baritone.

The picture is brightly performed under the direction of Edmund Goulding and Producer Nunnally Johnson's script provides sly dialogue and humorous situations for the actors, who seem to have just as much fun as the audience.

Celeste Holm, wife of Paul Douglas, aspires to be a concert singer and Douglas, who is in the house-wrecking business with Millard Mitchell is warned by his father-in-law, Charles Coburn, of dire circumstances if her ambition is not curbed. Following his wife's recital, Linda Darnell, a diva in her own right, tells Douglas that she has an ordinary voice. Linda who is looking for a six-foot baritone to be her partner on a concert tour, discovers that Douglas has a smashing voice—so powerful in its high tones that it cracks mirrors, glasses and even shatters glass bathroom doors when he lets it loose.

Douglas goes on tour with Linda, telling his wife that it is a business trip. In common parlance he knocks 'em dead. When Celeste learns that her husband is the new baritone sensation she orders him out of the house. This leads him to accept an engagement to sing with Darnell in the American Scala Opera. On opening night of "The Loves of Fatima" Douglas gets a terrible case of stage fright and his well-wishers backstage ply him with so many "cures" that he stumbles on stage in blind abandon. His operatic debut is a complete flop but it serves as a means to a happy reunion with his wife.

The plot moves swiftly and the situation comedy is of the highest

Southeast Community Council Improvements

In response to an appeal by the members of the Southeastern Community Council, the residents of the section between Broadway and Fallway will be gratified to hear of several improvements being undertaken.

First, Inspector Bernard Schmidt of the Traffic Department has sent a letter stating that "School one" Signs will be erected in the vicinity of Public School No. 2, Central and Stiles Streets and near St. Leo's School, High and Stiles Streets, to protect the school children from the heavy commercial traffic of the section.

Secondly, Postmaster Neal Sibley has sent a missive stating that a Mailbox will be erected south of Pratt Street, (when the new allotments of mailboxes arrives after the first of the year.) This will save residents of the area from having to cross through the heavy traffic of Pratt Street.

with Aunt Penny

Anne Lawler called this morning about next week's church supper. She wanted each of us on the committee to call a list of people so we'll know how many to expect.

After I'd finished the breakfast dishes, I sat down at the telephone and started calling one person right after another. I was down to the fourth name on my list before I stopped to think of the other folks on my party line. Here I'd tied up the line for fifteen minutes without a break. Supposing someone else on the line wanted to make a call!

Needless to say, I ended my "calling marathon" right then and there. I'll make the rest of those calls later on in the day, one by one and spaced several minutes apart. The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City.

Notes In . . . Suggestion Box

Of all the mechanical devices now in use for soothing labor-management relations, the oldest is probably the suggestion box and the most frequently offered suggestion is, "Dear boss, drop dead!" It is not, however, the only chuckle in the box.

Conscience money. One plant manager in Flint, Mich., was astounded to find a full pay envelope with a note: "I must confess that I wasn't at my machine this week but down cellar in dice game. Yesterday while at church I realized I was cheating the company and decided to return my pay. Don't worry though, I made lots more than this with the dice."

Women's wishes. In a West Coast canning factory, there was a storm of demands that all new male employees be under 30, unmarried, and good-looking.

Early lunch. In a Gary, Ind., steel plant a wifely note said, "I make book for your men. Things would be a lot easier if you gave them lunch a half hour earlier, in time to place their bets for the first race."

Cash preferred. A Louisiana mill boss received a sound argument for paying wages in cash instead of by check. On the next payday a lone bandit staged a hold-up and made off with the cash. When arrested a few hours later, he admitted that he was the "employee" who had made the suggestion.

Quick Action. When the week's suggestions were shaken out of a box in a Detroit auto factory, the plant manager rushed to give one of the requests for reform the speediest possible execution. Written in a shaky hand, it read, "If you don't mace that foreman in Plant C stop eating garlic, there's going to be a murder around here!"

PAC Against Change Of Polish Boundary

Chicago, Ill.—The Polish American Congress in its November "Voice of America," bulletin again reiterated its opposition to any revisions of the Polish-German boundary, condemned those in the United States who favor such revision.

City Plans Modern Equipment At Dental School In Canton

Launching its expanded school dental health program, the Baltimore City Health Department soon will open the first of six dental clinics which will be established in elementary schools during the next year.

The first clinic, equipped with the most modern dental equipment, will open in School 230, Hudson street and Highland avenue.

NEED PERSONNEL

According to Dr. H. Berton McCauley, director of the Bureau of Dental Care, examination and treatment will begin as soon as necessary personnel is obtained.

School 230 was selected for the first clinic, Dr. McCauley explained, on the basis of need in the community, and because of the interest and co-operation which the Canton Area Council, a community improvement group, has shown in helping to formulate a preventive dental program for children.

John T. Loeffler is council president.

It is probable, he added, that five or six part-time dentists will be needed to administer the program properly throughout the city.

Setting up of the clinics is the first phase of a school dental care program which still is in the planning stage.

FULL-TIME DIRECTOR

Since Dr. McCauley recently assumed duties as the first full-time director of the Bureau of Dental Care, he has been working

Don't Miss This Musical Tea

On Sunday January 15, 1950, a musical tea will be given at the home of Mrs. Virginia Starr Freedom, at 1031 St. Paul St. There will be a beautiful program, including a song recital with Miss Wanda Mieczkowska as chairman. The group of musicians and singers are as follows: Regina Losinski, violinist; Julia Losinska, pianist; Wanda Mieczkowska, vocal soloist and Virginia Mieczkowska, vocal soloist.

Authentic Polish dances will be given by Bronia Lewandowska and Mrs. M. Kintopt, who designed the costumes for herself and for our Bronia.

Mrs. Wilczynska and Mrs. V. Virginia Freedom will be co-hostesses at the tea. Copies of Mrs. Wilczynska's book, "Unforgotten Heroes" will be available for guests, who want to buy them, and who have not yet had an opportunity to do so. This book is a record of the Polish American heroes of World War II, and in the opinion of some historians will be very valuable some day as a historical record. The stories of the individual young men are inspiring and touching, and every Polish-American should be proud to own a copy as a testimony of the magnificent part played in this deadly conflict.

The tea will be held within the holiday season, so that all of us will still be in the going spirit of Christmas, and will be present at the festivity that we are sure you will all remember. Plan to come, we are giving you this advance notice, so that you can be with us in this charming event. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Wilczynska. You can phone CHESAPEAKE 5559 at any time and order your tickets in advance.

ADVERTISERS, READERS— YOUR KIND ATTENTION!

Christmas is coming, and so is the POLISH TIMES' third birthday. It will be remembered that the first edition of this paper was presented to the community on December 22, 1946. It was a great event, something of which we were all proud. In conjunction with our initial publication, and in the spirit of the Yuletide, many of our advertisers and readers took the opportunity to extend season's greetings through our advertising columns. This year many expect to do likewise. Once again the POLISH TIMES is planning to devote special pages to those who wish to have their greetings published, and as usual, at the same nominal cost. This is a reminder to get yours in now! For details, phone BROADWAY 1331, or stop in at the office of the POLISH TIMES, 1718 Eastern Avenue.

Santa Claus Needs Help!

In one of the many bags of requests that arrived this week at the North Pole, there is a plea for a FULL SIZE PIANO to be used for COMMUNITY PURPOSES in East Baltimore.

Santa wants to be an obliging fellow, but he just doesn't have any used pianos. Can YOU help? Do you have a piano in good condition that you would like to give away to be used by people in the community?

If so, please contact Mrs. Martha Leyko at Eastern 6603, who has promised to help Santa fulfill the request.

AFTER COMMUNISM—WHAT?

We are not ready to forecast a breakdown of the Communist dictatorship over Eastern Europe. But we do believe that if a breakdown should come, the United States should avoid the fumbling of the allies after the first World War and the evil stupidity of Nazi Germany in the second.

When Eastern Europe is liberated it will be by the oppressed peoples themselves and the successor states must rest on the aspirations of those peoples.

This includes the subject races within Russia. For centuries under the czars as well as the Communists, the Great Russians have maintained despotic control over the Ukrainians, the White Russians, the Poles, the Baltic peoples, Finns, Georgians and a score of others.

An independent Ukraine, flanked by the independent states of Poland, White Ruthenia, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia and Finland in the north and by an independent Caucasus, Georgia, Armenia, Azerbaijan and Kazaks in the south would break the age-old tyranny of the Great Russians.

And in doing so it would not only bring freedom to peoples who have never known real liberty but would also free the world of the principal threat to peace.

—TIMES-UNION, Rochester, N. Y. Nov. 1.

THINK IT OVER!

This is the Communist police state operating with the brutal efficiency which alone enables it to survive. What is going on in Czechoslovakia has been going on in Russia since the Bolshevik state was established. It is going on in Poland, the Communist Baltic countries, in Hungary and Eastern Germany. It is the technique which will be applied wherever Communists control in any given area.

This is the evil thing which the thousands of native born members of the American Communist Party would exchange for the freedoms of the rest of us cherish. Think it over!

—COMMERCIAL APPEAL, Memphis, Tenn. Oct. 22.

THE GALLANT POLES

"The appointment of the Soviet military commander Konstantin K. Rokossovsky as Marshal of Poland and Polish Minister of National Defense has not come as a complete surprise. During the last three months the department has received reports from a variety of sources indicating that such a development was likely.

"The appointment of a leading figure to serve as Soviet consul in Poland brings Poland openly and more securely under control and continues to insure priority of the U.S.S.R.'s political and strategic interests over those of Poland. It also provides an interesting example of the vaunted Soviet 'peace policy'.

"It will be recalled that Marshal Rokossovsky was in command of the Soviet Army on the outskirts of Warsaw at the time of the Warsaw uprising in 1944. At that time the gallant Poles who attempted to liberate the capital from the Germans were unsupported by Marshal Rokossovsky and ultimately were forced to surrender with tragic loss of life."

The Economic Basis Of Foreign Policy

We have France, with a 33% electorate, who voted for Communist candidates in a free election, and which has had a bewildering succession of coalition governments since VE Day in 1945, trying to lift her out of the economic morass into which she and other governments have slipped since the end of the war. We have France, who is losing 75,000 men a year trying to hold the line against the Communists in Indo-China, and whose military experts said that it would require $18 billion dollars and 5 years for her to be able to put 40 divisions in the field. (Russia has 200 divisions in Europe NOW.)

We have the Netherlands, who must maintain troops to keep order in Indonesia, which is torn by Communist provoked strife, and 15% of whose total national income comes from Indonesia. Their domestic Communist problem is not as serious as in France or Italy, but their colonial commitments are a constant drain on their economy, and the United States has joined the Soviet Union in calling for the establishment of an "Indonesian Republic," which will be gobbled up by the Communists the moment Dutch troops are withdrawn.

We have Italy, with her perpetual unemployment problem, and her overpopulation, and a Communist cancer so widespread that there was doubt in the United States in 1948 as to whether a Center Party could win the national election. The Italian peace treaty of 1946 has not been revised, and Italy is paying $100 million dollars of reparations to Russia, with her fleet and military forces cut to the minimum that can keep national order. Her brown coal deposits were given to the former Russian satellite, Yugoslavia, as was much of her electrical power. The United States and Britain engineered the pact that placed this heavy burden on the Italian economy. Italy has not regained any of her pre-war colonies.

Denmark lasted 40 hours against Germany. Norway lasted 1 week. Belgium lasted 2 1/2 days. All of these nations were occupied by Germany, and their economies received severe setbacks while Germany drained their resources off in order to use them in prosecuting the war.

These are the Atlantic Pact nations, excluding Canada, our co-partner in atomic energy, and continental neighbor.

One can guess what their defense would be against a Russo-German combination at any time in the next few years.

Now, let us take a look at the Pacific.

Nationalist China controlled one of the four great industrial centers in the world—the coal and iron deposits of Manchuria, and the $22 billions worth of installations built by Japan from 1931 to 1937.

The others are the Gary-Pittsburgh-Detroit golden triangle of the United States, (2) the Don-Urals Basin (Soviet Russia), and the (3) German Ruhr.

Whether we use the polar projection to find the industrial heartland of the world, or the Mackinder-Hauschofer thesis—these 4 are the areas where the greatest industrial and military potential of the world's nations are stored.

Allied control of the air in World War II did not destroy the Ruhr. The German Luftwaffe did not destroy the Don-Urals coal and iron deposits. It is possible to believe that the B-36 and the atomic bomb could not destroy them, either. Both of these areas were back in production less than years after the most relentless bombing by enemy planes.

AND SOVIET RUSSIA NOW HAS POSSESSION OF TWO OF THE FOUR AREAS—THE DON-URALS AND MANCHURIA. WHILE SHE IS BUT A SCARCIE 200 MILES AWAY FROM THE THIRD (THE RUHR). Here again, we would have the 3 to 1 combination—only this time it would be against us.

"There's another of those things that are so unfair," remarked Lewis dourly.

"What do you mean?" asked his companion.

Lewis pointed to the scene and said, "Women doing men's work."

Dental Clinic

with Dr. Huntington Williams, Commissioner of Health in Baltimore, Dr. Lillian Davis, supervisor of Health Education in the Baltimore City Schools; the Rev. Dr. Leo J. McCormick, superintendent of Catholic education; the Baltimore City Dental Society, the City's Medical Care Committee and various members of the Department of Education in setting up the Bureau of Dental Care.

FOSTER DENTAL HEALTH

Expansion of services will depend upon funds allocated for the purpose, but it is hoped that a constructive program can be built up for treatment, as well as for education to foster personal responsibility for dental health.

Dr. McCauley explained that the work now in progress in certain schools for treatment of pupils with fluoride is not a phase of the new Dental Care program for Baltimore schools.

GIVEN BY DR. FRANK

It is being administered by Dr. John E. Frank, a dental officer of the United States Public Health Service, who heads a group that is treating the children.

Four schools, including both public and parochial, will be visited by the dental group, which, by early Spring, will have treated nearly 3,000 Baltimore school children.

Treatment now is going on at School S3, Lakewood avenue and Fayette street. The other three schools are in different sections of the city, so a good cross-section of children will be reached, Dr. McCauley added.

Ideally, the most effective ages for use of fluoride are three, seven, ten, and thirteen years, because it is at those ages that teeth can be treated shortly after they appear.

However, in Baltimore children ranging from seven to ten years are being treated. Four applications of fluoride are made on each child.

Traditional Polish Christmas Carols At Enoch Pratt Library

Five traditional Polish carols to be sung by the Lutnia Choir are included in the Christmas program of branch 19 of the Enoch Pratt Library, 606 S. Ann Street, for December 29 at 7:30 P.M.

With Clarence Wrabkowski of the Baltimore Public School System conducting, the Choir will sing the following carols:

"W Srod Nocej Ciszy" (In The Silent Night), "Wesola Nowina" (Joyous Tidings), "Sliczna Panienka" (O Beautiful Lady), "Noc Cicha w Snie" (Quiet Night In Slumber) and "Tryumfy" (Triumphant).

They will also sing "Na Aniol Panski" (The Angelus) by Rev. M. Krawczyk. Miss Jalia Losinski will be the accompanist.

Wedding Whys And Wherefore . . .

Why third finger, left hand? The ancients believed that a special vein, which they called the "vena amoris" or vein of love, ran from the third finger direct to the heart. By putting on a fitted ring, the affections were bound in and could never flow out the finger tips! Also, this finger—although not the smallest on the hand—is the weakest and most dependent on the others for help in lifting and holding. It seemed to symbolize the young wife supported by the strength of her husband. The ring finger has sometimes been on the left hand, sometimes on the right, according to country and custom. Among English-speaking persons it has been on the left since the edict of Edward VI in 1549.

RECALLS PHONE CO.'S GROWTH SINCE 1886

George E. McGuirk of Baltimore was the Guest of Honor at a retirement party at a downtown hotel which was attended by 175 of his friends and business associates.

Culminating 52 years and 2 months of service, Mr. McGuirk has the longest term of service of anyone in The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies, and one of the longest terms of service in the entire Bell System. He is 65 years of age. His first job was with the Western Union Telegraph Company when it was a part of the Bell System and his salary in 1897, when he started, was the magnificent sum of $12.00 a month.

Many C. & P. officials attended and honored Mr. McGuirk, including H. R. Maddox, president of the C. P. Group. Toastmaster Alfred W. Ireland presented a radio-phonograph as a remembrance from his associates in the telephone business.

In commenting on his early days in the Company, Mr. McGuirk said, "We used ceiling oil lamps and there were no window screens, so that during the summer months insects would drop into the lamps and break the chimneys. This sometimes resulted in small fires so that switchboard operators, such as myself, also had to extinguish the fire, replace the lamp chimney, and then return to the switchboard to answer calls."

He said that he had seen the telephone business in Baltimore City grow from less than 2,000 telephones with only 2 offices, St. Paul and Madison, to nearly 300,000 stations and 28 telephone offices today. "I have also witnessed practically all the progress in the science of telephony in all branches including the ability to talk to anyone anywhere in the civilized world," he said. Transmission of the voice, he continued, is much like transmitting the person as Ben Johnson said, "Speak to me that I may see thee."

MUST CHOOSE BETWEEN TWO MEN. Florence Marly is on the spot in Columbia's "Tokyo Joe" at the Broadway Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, when Humphrey Bogart wants to take her away from Alexander Knox.

Bogart Blasts the Jap Underworld In Adventurous Role as "Tokyo Joe"

Not since "Casablanca," with which his new Columbia picture must inevitably be compared, has Humphrey Bogart had so timely and so impassioned a role as that of "Tokyo Joe." The film which opens Sunday and remains through Tuesday at the Theatre is a trenchant, turbulent drama, thick in human values and filled with physical violence which keeps audiences tense and expectant. In that respect, and in the colorful, unexpected background of post-war Japan, "Tokyo Joe" easily is Bogart's greatest screen adventure.

The star portrays an embittered Air Corps hero who returns to the Japanese capital to resume operation of his night club, believing that his White Russian wife has died in a concentration camp. He finds she has divorced him to marry an American attorney living in Tokyo; they have a young daughter. He finds, too, that she still recalls with feeling their mutual memories of days and nights together, when she was the sultry, accented, slinky-gowned blonde torch singer sensation of his cafe.

Determined to take her away from her husband, to return her to his dream of their pre-war closeness, "Tokyo Joe" becomes involved with Japanese mobsters, engaged in smuggling war criminals back into Japan. This involvement comes when he is blackmailed, with documents proving his former wife had broadcast treason to American troops in order to save the life of her child—and his.

Alexander Knox, Florence Marly and Sessue Hayakawa are also starred with Bogart in "Tokyo Joe." Knox portrays the understanding attorney, determined to protect his wife and willing to chance his future on her love for him. Czech-born Miss Marly, in her second American film, is superb as the wasp-waisted, intent White Russian. Miss Marly several times sings "These Foolish Things," an "oldie sure to be re-returned, as a result, to the hit lists. Sessue Hayakawa, Japanese menace of the silent screen, returned to Hollywood from his Paris refuge to portray the unreconciled former head of the Japanese Secret Service, grimly carrying on his private war. Hayakawa should easily regain his star stature of former days.

Bogart, as "Tokyo Joe," plays to the hilt a role which alternates between exciting romance and hard-hitting action, combining tender embraces with deadly rough-and-tumble judo. "Tokyo Joe," as Bogart portrays him, is at once a tender lover and a determined killer, an embittered ex-serviceman and a grim conspirator. "Tokyo Joe" is Bogart at his deadly best.

Coming To Polish Home Sunday

The Polish Air Force Quartet, known as "Wesola Czworka," after many years of wandering during and after the war, will appear Sunday, December 11 at 2:30 and 8 P.M. at Polish Home Hall, 510-12 S. Broadway.

They are a world touring outfit, and have performed in such renowned and far off places, as India, Persia and South Africa.

Assisted by songstress Jadzia Chudzikiewicz, the Versatile Four gives a Polish-American musical revue.

Hamtramck, Mich., Is Cosmopolitan City; Was Founded On Principles Of Freedom

Hamtramck, Mich. — Although this city of 50,000 souls is often referred to as the "Polish City" it is in its appearance, outlook and community life as American as apple pie.

With its population Hamtramck now forms the most densely inhabited city not only within Detroit's metropolitan area but within the United States itself. Hamtramck ethnologically, too, forms today the most compact community of Americans of Slavic if not of Polish descent.

Hamtramck was named in honor of Col. John Francis Hamtramck, great Revolutionary War hero, beloved by General Anthony Wayne, who played such an important role in the winning of the west.

Hamtramck developed rapidly into a community when people settled there from the congested areas in and around Detroit. The first Polish American settlers arrived there in the 1870's. By 1915 80 percent of the population was of Polish origin.

Despite this huge concentration of persons of Polish ancestry, the community was dominated by a minority of German extraction which to keep its political power sought to incorporate the village with Detroit.

Village Incorporated To counteract this move the American-Polish Political Club was formed through whose efforts on Jan. 21, 1922, Hamtramck was made a city, thus preventing annexation.

Hamtramck today is a city of modern schools, hospitals, community buildings, clubs, organizations and fraternal societies. It is a city of churches of many denominations. It is a city which has done pioneer work in the naturalization of its people to the status of citizenship.

Hamtramck developed into a community of immigrant laborers and grew into a modern city because of their longing for a safe shelter and for freedom denied them in their native lands.

These workers wanted to establish a community of their own in which they could cultivate their inherent love for freedom, for brotherhood and at the same time be protected from exploitation by those who live by preying on others.

At first overcome by this never-before-experienced political freedom, envied by jealous opponents, they did not find it easy to adjust themselves to the new conditions of self-government. Now as primed Americans they are doing well in spite of the many handicaps still encountered.

Often Called "Warsaw" Hamtramck was often called the "Warsaw" of America. It also could have been called, on a smaller scale, the "Kiev," "Minsk," "Moscow," "Wilno," or "Berlin" of America. In fact there are over forty nationalities represented in this tiny municipality, small in area, but large in number and strong in spirit.

Just because of this multitude of racial cultures, it became the "Washington," the "captol," of foreign pioneers who gradually blended the best of their own national cultures with American ideals.

Hamtramck is America's smallest cosmopolitan city, a true miniature of the United States itself.

Polish-American Is Mayor of Buffalo

Buffalo, N. Y.—For the first time in the nation's history, a person of Polish descent became mayor of a large Metropolitan city. Joseph Mruk, Republican candidate for Mayor of Buffalo, N. Y., defeated John D. Hillery, a democrat. Mruk piled up a vote of 123,472 to 109,807 for Hillery.

For months a vigorous campaign was carried on in every section of Buffalo, primarily in sections predominately populated by Polish-Americans to elect Mruk mayor.

According to Dziennik dla Wszystkich (Polish Everybody's Daily), Hillery backers were carrying on a "smear" campaign against Mruk, because of the latter's racial background.

The victory for Mruk can be accredited to the fine organizational work of Americans of Polish descent in the Buffalo area.

Mruk at present is a city councilman and a former U. S. Congressman.

Your Serial Number Tells When You Get Your Check

Washington (AFPS)—The lower the last three digits of your respective Service serial number, the sooner you will receive your share of the $2,800,000,000 National Service Life Insurance dividend.

The Veterans Administration recently announced this official formula, on the basis of which checks, beginning in January, will be mailed to about 18 million eligible veteran policy-holders and former policy-holders.

The first checks to be mailed by the VA will go to veterans whose serial number ends in 000. The last group to receive checks will be those whose serial numbers end in 999.

Under this procedure, described by the VA as the fairest that could be devised, veterans whose serial numbers end with the digits 000 through 009 will get the first checks.

So far nearly 13,500,000 veterans have applied for refunds $528, depending upon the amount of insurance carried by the veterans and the length of time premium will range from 90 cents to millions were paid.

The VA has not set a time limit on applications for the NSLI refund and at present claims are still pouring in at the rate of 10,000 a day. About 10 million checks are expected to go out in the first ten weeks after payments start in mid-January.

The VA warns however, that some applicants will miss early payments even if their serial numbers end in the low brackets due to the fact that additional information must be obtained from them. These applicants will be handled separately.

In the case of a veteran who has more than one serial number the VA will go by the number that appears on his insurance policy.

Mayor Advocates Patterson Park Is Site For Pulaski Monument

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr. attended a meeting of representatives of several Polish organizations in Baltimore, which was called by Mr. Adam S. Gregorius, president of the Polish section of the Pulaski Monument Committee, at Friday night.

The Mayor's presence was unexpected. Most of the people presented in Wyman Park. As it turned out, the Mayor is 100% for the monument to be erected in Patterson Park. To emphasize his stand he fully gave his open opinion, why, and for what reason Patterson Park should be the place to erect this monument. As an example, he cited the mistake made by the Italian people in erecting the Columbus monument in Druid Hill Park, and urged all the Polish people "not to follow into the footsteps of the Italians, but to see to it that the monument to this great Hero of Revolutionary War is placed in the Polish section of Baltimore, and that is in Patterson Park."

After listening to his advice, and he spoke for more than thirty minutes, Mr. Philip G. Welzant, who only recently was for the erection of the monument in Wyman Park, and his vote is so recorded, made a motion to unanimously agree to place this memorial in our backyard, which is Patterson Park.

Mr. Louis Gleron, who acted as recording secretary at the meeting, read of a list of organizations who were present at the last meeting of those who are interested in moving the site from Wyman Park to Patterson. Amongst organizations mentioned were Polish Rومان Catholic Union, some groups of the Polish National Alliance, two Nests of the Polish Falcons, Polish-American Democratic Club of the 2nd Ward and several smaller Polish Organizations.

In making this statement the Mayor once again proved, that the false rumors spread by certain individuals in our community, are only done for reasons, known only to themselves, for their own personal ambitions.

We hope that this will clarify this situation, and that in the future, the Polish people will spike these rumors in the head.

What Dick Bonnett Says About The Monument

William (Dick) Bonnett, city councilman from the first district says:

"I have attended every Pulaski Day celebration held in Patterson Park ever since 1929. On that day the stone for the Pulaski Monument was placed at the entrance to Patterson Park on the corner of Eastern Avenue. I attended the dedication ceremonies when the site of the monument was changed, and the foundation for the monument was placed near the lake in the park. For the past years I have heard quite a sentiment in East Baltimore, to move this magnificent tribute to one of the Great Heroes of the Revolutionary War from Patterson Park to Wyman Park. I want everyone to know that if Patterson Park was good enough for the past twenty years, let us have this project settled once and for all and build it in Patterson Park."

ent at the gathering were of the opinion that the Mayor was definitely set for the monument to be

Student For Priesthood Killed In Hit-Run Case

Edwin Andrew Krajewski, 17 year old Philadelphia student studying for the priesthood, was killed today when struck by a hit-and-run car a short distance from the school.

An hour later State police arrested Herman Hill, 25, of Elkton, and charged him with manslaughter in Krajewski's death. He was held in jail here.

The Rev. John Conmy, head of the Oblate Novitiate at nearby Childs, Md., said the youth had entered the Catholic institution last June.

Father Conmy gave this account of the accident:

Krajewski and Raymond Gang, 17, of Toledo, Ohio, another novitiate student, were taking an afternoon walk along a road near the school. They were on the left side of the highway.

Body Is Examined
A car approached them, weaving slightly, according to Gang. The two stepped off the roadway to the road shoulder just as the car reached them. Gang was in front.

The car passed close by Gang, who said over his shoulder something about "just missing us."

There was no response. He turned and looked back, and saw Krajewski lying alongside the road.

A Singery (Md.) fire company ambulance took the youth to an Elkton hospital, where he was pronounced dead. The body was taken to a funeral home, where Dr. R. C. Dodson, deputy medical examiner, examined the body, but made no report.

Help The DP's During Xmas

The coming Christmas holiday should be a period of giving, a time of thoughtfulness for others, a season of charity when all should emulate the spirit of Jesus.

And opportunity exists this year, more than ever before, for Christians to practice the high ideals of their religion.

This Christmas there is in our midst a large group of persons, new in America—displaced persons. These people after ten years of the worst horror are in what is to them a strange land, with strange customs, with a strange language.

Many are undergoing the hardships of rehabilitation, of resettlement, of readjustment. Many are still confused and bewildered with the great change that they made from their homes in the old world.

So long for friendship, for an understanding word, for fellow

So Yuletide season let us resolve to help at least one displaced person. Invite him into your home, take him to church, take him to your Christmas parties, help him if he needs it.

And those who do perform these charitable acts will be richly rewarded in the knowledge that they have put into practice the true spirit of Christmas.

Exclusive To The Polish Times: Christmas Carols

"MARY VISITS POLAND" and "PADEREWSKI" are two sound films which will be included in the Christmas program of Branch 19 of the Enoch Pratt Library, 606 S. Ann Street, December 29, at 7:30 P.M.

POLITICO

To those who aspire for political office, this article might teach them some of the whims, and the fancies of voters, the effect which the different claims, may or may not have on voters, and the care and caution which they should have in making statements on their political advertisements. In looking through our files recently we came upon a number of political advertisements of candidates who ran for the various elective offices, and found the following. No. 1. The campaign card of our now Mayor, Mr. Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr., (1944) Candidate for Congress. Mr. D'Alesandro stated that he was "PROVEN." Experienced. Courageous. Dependable. His clean record merits your support. Mr. D'Alesandro, "WON." Next we have the card of Bernard F. Owens, a candidate for Congress. Mr. Owen's card states that he is for "Clean and Good Government." Evidently the voters were not anxious for Good, Clean Government, and Mr. Owens, "LOST." Next, we have the card of Edward A. Garmatz, Candidate for Congress. Mr. Garmatz's card states, "Capable—Trustworthy" his record and experience in Congress Merits your support. Evidently the voters believed Mr. Garmatz, and he "WON." Mr. Edward N. Kowzan's card comes next. Mr. Kowzan was a candidate for Congress, and his card stated that he was anxious to "Re-establish simple faith in God, in family, and in the Constitution of the United States. It appeared that the voters were not concerned about God and the Constitution, and Mr. Kowzan, "LOST." James W. Miller was a candidate for Congress in (1946). Mr. Miller claimed to be 100% American but the voters in his district were not concerned about 100% Americans, and he lost the election. Mr. Miller, has since been adopted by the Republican party, where 100% Americans might be appreciated. Next, we have, "Smitty." Mr. Stefan Kendzjeski, who too was a candidate for Congress (1948). Mr. Kendzjeski's card stated that he was "A Man who will represent HIS people." Mr. Kendzjeski's people apparently did not take his statement to heart, and he "LOST." So much for Congressional candidates. Next we come to the candidates for Judgeships.

Mr. Julius J. Robinson, (1946) made a bid for one of the Judgeships on the Supreme Bench. Mr. Robinson stated that he would give the public, "Courteous and Honest Efforts, were he elected." When the votes were counted it showed that the voters were not interested in the biography of a candidate and; he "LOST." The card of Judge Samuel Lasch next appears. Judge Lasch simply states "that he thinks that he has made good on the bench in Orphans Court, and wants to hold on to his job. Judge Lasch was "ELECTED." Now comes Daniel Carroll of P. Mr. Carroll was a candidate for State Comptroller. Mr. Carroll stated that he was the man "Who Uncovered the State Road Shortage." The voters had forgotten all about the State Road shortage and he "LOST." Mr. William L. K. Barrett now appears on the next card. Mr. Barrett was a candidate for the post of State's Attorney. Mr. Barrett stated that he was a "Proved Public Servant. A Vigorous, Capable Trial Lawyer, Able, Honest, Alert, and asked for a vote of confidence." The voters were not particularly interested in any persons outstanding capabilities, and Mr. Barrett, "LOST." Mr. Kenneth P. Fooks, aspired for the State Senatorship, in the 5th Legislative District. Mr. Fooks had printed on the back of his campaign card, the history of his life. It took so long to read Mr. Fook's history that the voters feared that the polls would be closed before they had finished reading this history and he "LOST." Jack M. Fox, was desirous of being elected to the House of Delegates from the 5th District. Mr. Fox respectfully asked for a vote. There might be another way to get votes than the respectful way and he, "LOST." Harry W. Hauf, thought that he would make a representative Legislator from the 5th District. Mr. Hauf was for the small business man, and the laboring man. Mr. Hauf stated that he had five sons, and five son-in-laws, in the service, one of his sons having made the supreme sacrifice. Well, the war was over, and the voters were apparently not interested in veteran's, the small business man, or the laboring man, and he "LOST." Walter J. Dewees, was a candidate for Clerk of the Criminal Court. He simply asked the voters to vote for him. They wouldn't listen, and he "LOST." Wilford L. Carter, was a candidate for Clerk of the Criminal Court. He stated that he was Able-Conscientious-Honest. This appeal seemed to strike the voters fancy and he "WON." Mr. John L. Feehley, aspired to become Clerk of Criminal Court of Baltimore City. Mr. Feehley stated that he had been employed in that office for fifteen years. The voters apparently believed that Mr. Feehley had been in office long enough, and he "LOST." Mr. M. Luther Pittman simply requested support. He got it. He "WON." Mr. Joseph F. Mannion, wanted to become President, City Council. Mr. Mannion stated that he was a man that you could depend upon. The voters apparently were not looking for a man that was dependable, and he "LOST." Mr. George J. Erhardt, was a candidate for City Council. Mr. Erhardt stated that he had been representing labor for the past ten years, but it appeared that the labor vote was not aware of this and he, "LOST." Mr. Larry Murphy was a candidate for City Council, and he respectfully asked for votes. It seems that this is the wrong way to ask for votes and he "LOST." Mr. J. Joseph Gately was a candidate for City Council. He told of his faithfulness to his duties when a member of the Legislature, also as to his fighting in the Pacific Theatre during the past war. It seemed as if the voters in Mr. Gately's district had forgotten all about the war, and he "LOST." And after going through all of the cards and copying the various claims that the candidates were making in order that they might be elected to office, we find that all of them had over-looked one vital campaign slogan. "REFRESHMENTS."

Soviet Russia controls Polish Silesia. She controls the Czech Sokoda munitions works. She has stolen Austria's Zistersdorf oil-fields. She is 100 miles across the border from K Kirkuk, Iraq, and 300 miles as the crow flies from Dhahran, the U.S. oil center. She has the willing help of many of Germany's great scientists.

The only fly in the ointment for Russia today is her lack of oil drilling and refining machinery. We are still shipping these vital articles to her as late as the Spring of 1948—and we have no way of knowing whether or not Britain, in her economic desperation, may not do so, or whether or not Eastern Germany may not remedy this lack behind the Iron Curtain.

There are American manufacturers who may still be ready, for the sake of expanding sales, to sell to Russia. If you remember, we shipped scrap iron to Japan!

Civilians and the military seem to have completely overlooked the debate on the China mainland. Russia now outflanks us in Asia—from the Kuriles, Japan, Okinawa, the Philippines and Formosa, to Australia, because we have sat supinely while she conquered the Chinese nation, using her henchmen, the Chinese Communists. She is TWO TO FOUR HOURS AWAY FROM THESE AREAS—WE ARE FOURTEEN TO TWENTY HOURS AWAY.

Tomorrow's conflict will see telling blows inflicted within hours—not days or weeks as with Germany's blitzkrieg in 1939.

For some curious reason, our State Department has resisted the facts in the Chinese question, suppressed the Wedemeyer report until it was too late to do anything about it, and has issued a White Paper with 39 vital omissions in our foreign policy toward China. Because of the feeling that Chiang Kai Shek did not fight hard enough, we have purposely stood aside until Moscow took her revenge upon him, which Stalin swore to do in 1927.

Name Co-Chairmen For "March Of Dimes"

Chairmen of five additional groups for the March of Dimes, January 16 to 31, were announced today by Dr. George E. Bennett, Baltimore City Chairman.

"Within the next ten days, all groups will have their leaders and members at work," Dr. Bennett said, "as they prepare to put on the largest March of Dimes Campaign in the 12-year history of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The year 1949 has been one of the worst for polio that the nation has known, and all efforts will be bent to producing the direly needed increased demand for funds to take care of the more than 40,000 persons who were stricken this year."

Leon Bach and Theodore Straus were named co-chairmen of the Motion Picture Theatres group, Willard W. Allen the Community Committee and Harry Cohen, American Federation of Labor, John J. Klausenberg, Congress of Industrial Organizations, and J. David Cordle Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, co-chairmen of the labor organizations committees.

SOMETHING FOR THE GIRLS

Why a White Gown? White is the ceremonial symbol of purity and virtue and hence of maidenhood. It has been so since Biblical times. But white has not always been in fashion for wedding gowns. Colonial brides, for instance, wore pastel brocades and even cherry-red satin, but the rites were most often performed at home rather than in a church. Nellie Custis revived the wearing of white at her marriage to George Washington's favorite nephew on the ex-president's last birthday, Feb. 22, 1799, and white has now been in fashion for nearly 150 years.

Anniversaries

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Jewer celebrate their 28 years of marriage. They reside at 1522 E. Lombard St. and are still on their honeymoon.

Their children and grandchildren wish them peace and happiness for the coming years.

Weddings

On Monday, December 26, Miss Gloria Grabowska, of 2725 Chesterfield Ave., and Mr. Donald Dillman, will be united in marriage. Ceremony will take place at the Church of the Shrine of Little Flower at 4 p.m.

Wedding bells will ring on Saturday, February 11 Miss Virginia

Stanska of 2314 E. Federal St. and Mr. Thomas White. The ceremony will take place at St. Catherine's Church. Following the ceremony, a reception will be held for the guests in the bride's home.

Frederick March, portraying the discoverer of the New World, makes an impassioned plea for funds for his historic voyage before Queen Isabella's Royal Commission in J. Arthur Rank's spectacular Technicolor production of "Christopher Columbus."

They Meet Columbus In The Film; Forebears Met Him In The Flesh

When Fredric March, playing the title role, steps ashore in the New World for the first time in J. Arthur Rank's Technicolor motion picture, "Christopher Columbus," which will be on the screen of the Broadway Theatre one day only, Sunday, December 19, he is met by a group of Indians who are actually descendants of the same Indians who met the real Columbus when he changed the entire course of history at dawn on October 12, 1492.

The slender, rugged natives are Caribs who live on Dominica, the only island in the West Indies still inhabited by native Indians. Many of them observe the same customs and food habits observed by their forebears who were on hand to greet Columbus' arrival.

This dramatic movie casting was arranged by Producer A. Frank Bundy, who called upon Douglas Taylor to visit the Carib reservation, which consists of approximately 3,700 acres on the island, and hire one-hundred-ten members of the tribe to participate in the early morning scene when the Santa Maria sails slowly into the harbor.

Taylor, a research associate in the Department of Anthropology at Northwestern University, has lived on the island, a British Colonial possession lying between Martinique and Guadeloupe, for twelve years, delving into the history and background of the Caribs.

After receiving his request for native help in the film, Taylor visited the chief of the Caribs and found him perfectly amenable to having his people perform in the movie. Strangely, they proved remarkably unshy before the camera when the time came for them to slowly emerge from the woods to greet Columbus' tattered crew on the beach.

The present day Caribs, according to Taylor, produce all of their needs on the island and occasionally sell dugout canoes and woven baskets to bring in additional income. One of the main items in their diet is casava bread, which was a chief staple centuries ago. The casava root in its raw state contains prussic and cyanic acid, but by grating and squeezing the plant in a woven basket stocking, the Caribs discovered an ingenious method of removing the poisons. The contemporary Caribs also practice couvade, another century-old carryover, in which the husband maintains the same diet and takes the same careful precautions as his wife during pregnancy and after delivery of a child.

There Was A Loophole

A University of Detroit sociology professor told his students they would be allowed only one tardiness a semester—and that only if they were run over by a truck and had tire marks to prove it.

Some of the brighter students put stenciling ink on a truck tire and rolled it over their T-shirts, then appeared just a few minutes late for class.

"Here's how to avoid the rush of Long Distance Christmas calls"

"So many folks want to call across the miles at Christmas that we can't take care of them all at once — even though thousands of us will be on the job during the Holidays.

"A lot of new circuits have been added. Every switchboard will be in service. But it just isn't possible to stretch the service enough to handle the flood of calls that comes on this one day of the year. There are sure to be delays.

"Here's a friendly tip, however. If you telephone your faraway friends and relatives before Christmas Eve or after Christmas Day, I can give you faster service."

Reduced rates for Long Distance calls will be in effect all day Monday, December 26.

Youths Must Register For Selective Service

Colonel Henry C. Stanwood, State Director of Selective Service for Maryland, said "the obligation to register is a continuing one and must be fulfilled under the requirements of the Selective Service Act of 1948."

The young man who becomes eighteen (18) is required to register at a local board office within five (5) days of his eighteenth (18th) birthday. If he happens to be away from his home he need not return as he may register at the local board office most convenient to him and the record will be sent to the local board having jurisdiction over his home residence, if he wishes, even though it is in another State.

It is mandatory that a registrant keep his local board informed of any change in address or change in status. This requirement applies to all registrants, including those who have reached age twenty-six (26).

The Baltimore City Local Board Group office will register men at 37 Commerce Street (2nd floor) between 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday of each week, except on Federal holidays.

ADVERTISERS, READERS— YOUR KIND ATTENTION!

Christmas is coming, and so is the POLISH TIMES' third birthday. It will be remembered that the first edition of this paper was presented to the community on December 22, 1946. It was a great event, something of which we were all proud. In conjunction with our initial publication, and in the spirit of the Yuletide, many of our advertisers and readers took the opportunity to extend season's greetings through our advertising columns. This year many expect to do likewise. Once again the POLISH TIMES is planning to devote special pages to those who wish to have their greetings published, and as usual, at the same nominal cost. This is a reminder to get yours in now! For details, phone BRoadway 1881, or stop in at the office of the POLISH TIMES, 1718 Eastern Avenue.

Midnight Masses To Mark Feast Of Nativity

As is the custom each year, Midnight Masses will be celebrated this Christmas in all Catholic parishes throughout the Archdiocese. Special musical programs have been prepared, including the singing of the traditional Christmas Carols. In East and South Baltimore, the Feast of the Nativity will be marked by Solemn High Masses in the various Polish parishes.

Holy Rosary Church

At Holy Rosary Church, Rt. Rev. Mons. Stanislaus A. Wachowiak will be the celebrant at the midnight Mass. The sermon will be preached by the Monsignor. Other Masses on Christmas Day will be at 6, 7, 8, 9:15 and 10:30 A.M., and the last Mass at 12:15 P.M.

During the High Mass on Christmas morning at 10:20 a.m. the choir will sing the proper for the third Mass of Christmas by A. Edmunds Foxer. The ordinary will be taken from the Pastoral Mass in P. by St. Szymon. The music for the ordinary was adapted from traditional Polish Carol melodies.

In the old Holy Rosary Church at Eastern Avenue and Bethel Street, the Rev. Chester Mizek-kowski will be the celebrant at Midnight Mass, and will also deliver the sermon. Two other Masses are also scheduled, 8 and 9:15 A.M.

St. Casimir's Church

Preceding the Midnight Mass at St. Casimir's Church, Kenwood Avenue and O'Donnell Street, the choir will render Christmas Carols, starting at 11:30 P.M.

At midnight, a procession to the Crib of the Infant Jesus will take place, where school girls dressed as angels, and carrying lighted candles, will sing "Adorate Fideles."

Solemn High Mass will follow with Rt. Rev. Mons. Aloysius Sobus being the celebrant of the Mass, and also preaching the sermon.

St. Stanislaus Church

Two Masses will be held at St. Stanislaus Church at midnight, one in the upper church and one in the lower church. Thereafter Masses will be celebrated at 6, 7:30, 9, 10, 10:30, and at 12 noon.

Priests participating in the Masses will be Rev. Jakub Cholewka, Pastor of the Polish, Rev. Michal Gieslik, Rev. Bonawentura Saurer, Rev. Herbert Skarski and Rev. Rupert Hajna.

St. Patrick's Church

Solemn Midnight Mass preceded by Christmas Carols by the Choir under the direction of Isabelle Farane. Christmas Day Masses at 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11. At the 9 A.M. Mass, Christmas Carols will be sung by the children's choir and the Mass will be followed by Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Today,
As In The Day When
Three Wise Men Found Him...

... Let us express our hopes for the future through prayer. As we kneel in Homage on this Holy Day, let us pray for Peace on Earth. And let us determine to enact those ideals, in the months and years to come, which will help in making our prayers a reality. A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all

St. Stanislaus Holy Name Men Fete Children

St. Stanislaus Hall was the scene of a Christmas Party which the Holy Name Men held for the children. Christmas tree, Yule trimmings, music and Santa Claus were the atmosphere surrounding the place.

Polish Times Marks Third Anniversary

The following is a reprint of the editorial that appeared in the first issue of the POLISH TIMES, Sunday, December 22, 1946.

"With this issue is born a new publication, the principal objective of which will be to serve the best interests of the Polish people in Baltimore, as well as to present a broader view of the aims and ideals of a noble and honorable race of people, who have contributed so much to the growth and development of the City of Baltimore.

This is no "fly-by-night" affair. The people who are responsible for the establishment of the Polish Times have planned this with careful and serious thought. They have set a goal and are eager and determined to give to the Poles of Baltimore, a newspaper that will play an important part in the forward progress and development of their City.

The paper is being distributed free of charge, and we trust it will be worthy of your interest and support. Naturally, like other mediums, the Polish Times has its burden of expenses, and must look to some means of maintaining such a costly project.

That's where the advertisers come in.

With confidence this paper opens its pages to the business people of Baltimore, with every assurance that their investment will bring you only the best results.

There is something you readers can do for us. And that is to let us know what you think of this new publication. Constructive criticism will be welcome. If you can impart to us any suggestions that you feel might be helpful, they'll be given every consideration. We want the Polish Times to serve as the "voice of the Polish people" in Baltimore and outlying communities.

The best expression of your appreciation would be your patronage of those advertisers who make this paper possible. There's a lot of work to be done, and you the readers, can play an equally important part in the success of this enterprise."

Three years old. And still going strong. Many headaches were experienced during our first three years and numerous obstacles were overcome. We now begin our fourth year of publication. Progress will be our byword. It is with renewed vigor and determination that the Polish Times starts out on its fourth lap, confident that the future will see us rising to greater heights.

We thank you for your interest. May we continue to hold it.

We have chosen to select Nehru, the Indian Socialist who was ready to follow Gandhi into Japan's camp in 1939, as the anchor for our foreign policy in the Pacific. India has no Navy, no merchant marine, no air force, and the most impoverished and malnourished population on earth. Her economic problems are staggering. Competent economists have stated that it would require 20 years to study them properly, much less alleviate them.

The All-Asia Communist party, at its meeting in ay, 1948, announced its program of revolt in all Asia, and its time-table has been carried out religiously. There are civil wars in Burma, Indochina, Indonesia, Malaya, and Korea.

General MacArthur has done a magnificent job in Japan, but he has suffered constant interference from the pro-Soviet clique in the State Department. The Communists boast, however, that they control the electrical, communications, mining, and transportation unions in Japan, which would make it rather difficult for Japan to give her best efforts in case of a new war.

These are the thoughts that we must keep in mind as we view the ruthless fring of the Chief of Naval Operations, Admiral Denfield, the cutback of the Navy's defense strength, and the politicking that has now replaced seasoned judgment and wisdom in the President's Council of Economic Advisors with the resignation of Dr. Edwin G. Nourse.

Foreign newspapers report that Russia is rushing naval plans, building superior jet fighters, linking Eastern Europe with V-2 rocket bases.

England, France, and the United States are playing ring-around-the-rosy with national defense while the politicians jockey for position and reelection.

The analogy with Imperial Rome and the United States is very clear. Rome did not dream that the Teutonic barbarians could reduce her to rubble in a few short years. The United States is resting on its fancied superiority of industrial power, its high living standards, without the realization that its juvenile irresponsibility as a national characteristic is comparable with the morale of the dissipated legions of Rome. It does not realize that the Russian peasant, KNOWING NO OTHER KIND OF LIFE—DOES NOT REALIZE HE IS A SLAVE TO A TYRANNICAL DICTATORSHIP—AND MAY PROVE TO BE AS IRRESISTIBLE A FORCE AS THE TEUTONIC WARRIOR OF 476 A.D.

It is far later than we think. It is the duty of every one of us to help to awaken public opinion here in this nation to the dread fate that may be lurking in the mist of the not too distant future.

American Life In A Communist Regime

What would the United States be like under Soviet rule? From the lips of American Communists, we have the answer: Here are some of the main features of the United Soviet States of the American Republic (USS-AR) as they have been depicted by Communist leaders:

The capital will be in Chicago or some other large industrial center. Washington will be razed. The Red Army will support the government.

A Central Executive Committee will rule. Citizenship will be restricted to "useful workers."

Soviet courts will be entirely under the control of the CEC.

All social organizations will be abolished.

All farms will be organized into giant collectives.

All factories, mines, power plants, railroads, telephones, and radios will be taken over by the state, and operated by the state.

Women will be freed from "slavery." "Freedom of sex life" will be encouraged.

All schools, colleges and universities will be co-ordinated under the rule of the government.

Churches will be seized by the state.

The press, motion pictures and radio will be taken over by the government.

(William Z. Foster, present head of the American Communists, described the above special features of a Communist State in his book: "Toward a Soviet America").

May happiness, spirit and goodwill prevail at this symbolic Christmas—May they remain to you and yours thru the New Year

A Visit To Bethlehem

We idealize the Stable of Bethlehem, and well we do so, for it is always good to hallow holy things. But much at Bethlehem was hard: cold, discomfort, poverty, fear and the forgetfulness of men. Life is like Bethlehem: ideal in many ways, hard and realistic in other respects. We must expect and make use of both.

In exchanging gifts at Christmastide, we do but imitate God Who gave us Himself; in giving to others we give to Him. But few there are who realize this.

Wedding Whys And Wherefore...

Why a Bridal Veil? We think of the veil as being Oriental because the Eastern bridegroom often did not see his bride's face until after the ceremony. Actually the veil is older than the harem and rises from the mists of mythology. Ishtar, ancient goddess of love, came from the depths to meet her betrothed, the vapors of the earth and sea covering her like a veil so that only her voice was heard. Flimsy gauze and sheer laces were used by the bride (who also let her tresses flow) until the invention of the wide loom and silk tulle in the 19th century.

They give for self-satisfaction, thru a sense of obligation, in exchange for presents received. They forget that a better motive is love—usually termed charity—for God demonstrated by doing good to our neighbor. "Whatever you do to the least of My brethren, you do to Me."

Gifts, however, are but token offerings—God wants ourselves. It is so easy to get caught up by the Christmas spirit that we miss the Spirit of Christmas. Hearts are like stockings: God can fill them only to the extent that we empty them... of self. At Christmastime, especially, must we be mindful that sentiment can be mistaken for holiness, feeling for grace, passing goodwill for a change of heart.

All around us are evidences of Yuletide... yea, of Christmas even: carols, cribs, gifts and the like. The sad truth is that it passes so many by without reaching the heart. God once said: "This people honoreth Me with their lips, but their heart is far from Me."

HUMOR

"How did that fight you had with your wife come out?"
 "Oh, she came crawling to me on her hands and knees."
 "So? What did she say?"
 "Come out from under that bed, your ornery whelp."

"It's the little things in life that tell," said the beautiful young blonde as she yanked her kid brother out from under the sofa.

Store Manager: "What do you mean by arguing with that customer? Don't you know our policy is that the 'customer's always right'?"

It was the little girl's first day in school. "What is your father's name?" asked the teacher.

"Daddy," replied the little girl.
 "Yes, I know, but what does your mother call him?"

"She doesn't call him anything. She likes him."

An after-dinner speech is like a wheel. The longer the spoke, the greater the tire.

Seeing the little neighbor boy playing out front, the pretty young matron called from her porch:

"Johnny, I need some things from the grocery. Do you think you could go for me?"

Little neighbor boy: "No, ma'am, I can't. But I heard pa say he sure could."

My dear friends, "Minds are like parachutes, they function only if they are open."

There's at least one of these back of every accident:

I don't know.
 I don't care.
 I forgot.
 What's the use.
 It can't happen to me.
 This safety stuff is all "B-loney."

Broadway Theatre And Association Fete Children Monday

Santa Claus (himself) will be on hand when the Broadway Theatre opens on Monday, December 26 for the annual Christmas party for children.

The event, which is one of the largest and merriest in East Baltimore, is being presented by the Broadway and Vicinity Business Association in cooperation with Robert Ashcroft, manager of the Broadway Theatre.

A special feature picture and cartoons will be shown on the screen, and gifts, consisting of candy, apples and oranges, will be given the neighborhood guests. Also, an amateur contest will be staged, Mr. Ashcroft said.

More than 900 tickets have been distributed to Public and Parochial schools, including No. 25, at Gough and Wolfe Sts.; No. 6, at Ann and Aliceanna; Holy Rosary, St. Stanislaus, St. Patrick's, St. Leo's, and St. Michael's.

John Simon, a member of the business association and publisher of the Polish Times will don the whiskers and red suit for the Santa Claus role.

Its A Girl

Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. Adam Danielak, Jr. of 220 Bank St. on the arrival of their new baby girl. The baby was born on December 5 and will be christened on Christmas Day in St. Stanislaus Church. The godmother will be the baby's aunt, Miss Florence Danielak, and the godfather will be Mr. Richard Verchow. The little girl will be named Patricia.

The Quest of the Christ Child

Once upon a star-bespinkled night,
 All glaced with frost (or was it angel's breath?)
 A Baby cried from deep within a cave,
 A stable where "some village oxen dwell."
 And, oh, what music to His mother's ears,
 So long awaited and so tenderly desired!
 She held him close and hummed a lullaby
 Until His cries were silence on her heart,
 Tonight a Baby sobs against the world,
 And all the white winged hosts to no avail
 Can comfort Him. His comfort lies in men,
 His Father's creatures and His greatest care,
 Beats there a human heart so unconcerned
 That would not let Him in, dear Wand'ring One?
 Or will His pleading voice be lost once more
 Amid the selfish clamor of the world?

Why You Haven't Been Killed

Are you alive today and reading this report on safety in Baltimore in comfort instead of in a hospital because a tragic accident didn't happen? You easily could be.

You are among the 57 persons who now are alive but who would have been killed in Baltimore accidents during the first nine months of this year if the average accident rate of the last three years had persisted.

This cut represents almost a 20 per cent drop in the number of fatal accidents in the city for the nine month period, and it is hoped that the same rate of gain will be maintained throughout the final months of the year.

The fact that 57 less persons didn't die is not something that just happened. It came about due to the energetic, aggressive and continuing detailed fight of the Safety Council and allied organizations in all fields of accident prevention.

The chief gains have been made in reducing home accidents, with other gains in reduction of occupational accidents and public accidents other than motor vehicle.

In the fight on motor vehicle deaths, the city is not doing so well. The fact is that motor vehicle deaths so far this year are ahead of those of last year, and that is why the Safety Council is putting renewed stress on this field. Will you help with the task now of educating others to walk and to drive safely? Will you help to reduce even further the number of lives lost, which need not be lost, because of accidents . . . so that many more than 57 persons' lives will be saved?

Grandma's In Style Again

For a long time grandmothers got very few compliments for their contribution in rearing young America.

During the middle twenties they were almost plowed under by new fangled theories put out by freshly bedged psychologists. Mothers were warned the new born child had to dangers—germs and Grandma.

So the educated young mother shooed older relatives out of the nursery. Grandmother was called a nuisance. She'd be sure to cuddle and perhaps rock the baby when your back was turned. She might even sneak in to the room and give the baby the impression that somebody loves him.

And those were the years when experts frowned on such softness. Then came the war and yells went up. "Where's Grandma?" Fathers left for the fronts, mothers got jobs in factories and Grandma was dragged out of hiding to look after the children. She was the first baby sitter, and I venture to say she'll still be sitting when the commercial sitters will price themselves out of jobs.

What's more—and this is really a feather in her cap—her technique with babies is back in style again. Experts have changed their tune. It's now OK to cuddle and rock the baby. So grandma came into her own once again. What would we do without her?

Merry Christmas

Happy New Year

Thoughts for hankies, when you can't find any—
You can iron twenty for a penny!

Like television? Did you know
One penny will bring you an hour's show?

For more than two hours
a penny will be enough to light your Christmas tree!

WHETHER you shop early or late, there's no happier Christmas choice than an electric gift—a gift to make life easier . . . to make the home a brighter place . . . to provide enjoyment for the family circle.

Of course, it's the electric service behind the appliances that works the marvel . . . that lends the homemaker an extra pair of hands or brings the pleasures of television and radio.

And that brings up the fact that electricity is the biggest bargain in your household budget. In other words, you get a LOT for your penny when it is spent for electric service.

Christmas Nicer Than In Olden Days

By GLADYS BEVANS

"When I was a child," my aunt used to say when she would come back from the Christmas stores with their glorious windows and enticing merchandise—when she would come to see us after visiting the whirling, boisterous households of her other younger relatives in the weeks before the big day, "people didn't us to carry on like this about Christmas."

"Grown people didn't figure so much. We had a big tree, of course, and our stockings hung up on Christmas Eve, and a few presents—we were a big family—but Christmas then was mostly for children. The grownups in general didn't 'exchange' presents and shop for gifts for friends and relatives. It was simpler then—and so quite different."

I am sure, from her descriptions, that the Christmases of her childhood were indeed different from ours of today. And the Christmases of still older days were still more different.

To those of us who grew up with the celebration of Christmas as it is today, it is hard to believe that every aspect of it, every sign and symbol of the great festival, are not traditional by that I mean dating far back in time. Yet that is the fact of the matter.

Original Was Leamer

Take the presiding genius of childhood—Santa Claus or St. Nick. Can you think of him as anything but short (I don't know quite what children do about that in their own minds when they see his representatives in stores and on street corners) and round and jolly, with a white beard reaching up to his twinkling eyes, and a red suit and high boots, and a sleigh and reindeer and a home in the snowy North?

I can't picture him any other way. Yet the original St. Nicholas was tall and lean, rode a horse, and wore the majestic garb and mitred headdress of a bishop. In this country he was the patron saint of New Amsterdam (now New York), the 6th of December was his day, and his favors were distributed in the form of gifts for good children and birch rods for the naughty ones! Were there really parents harsh enough to leave a birch rod in the name of good St. Nick?

Later, when the Dutch town's name was changed to New York, St. Nick made his rounds on the 24th of December. But even so, for many years his visits and all gifts were only for children.

Once Custom of Nobility

Another interesting fact about the Christmas-giving of still more olden times was that it was then only a noble's custom. The English kings made it a big time, with feasting and richly costumed occasions and tournaments, and later celebrated with heavy gambling with the amazing new playing cards! (Now this is not scholarly research on my part—just some data I picked up, which I trust is accurate.)

But, according to what I can gather, it was in the England of the 19th century that the lovely custom of the decorated and lighted and gift-hung Christmas tree was introduced by Queen Victoria, who was of German ancestry (the Germans, you know, were great lovers of Christmas celebration), and adopted wholeheartedly by America. Incidentally, it may intrigue you, as it did me, when I read that Victoria adored gifts so much that she noted them in her

Mother Death Rate Declines

Baltimore has a steadily declining maternal death rate, according to a report issued by Dr. Huntington Williams, Commissioner of Health.

For the first 10 months of this year, Dr. Williams reports, 11 maternal deaths occurred here, or 0.6 per thousand live births. This is a drop of almost one-half from the rate for the similar 1948 period, when the rate stood at 11 per cent per thousand.

Going back further, the rate was 5.4 per cent per thousand in 1935, and has shown a constant decline through the years, according to the health commissioner.

Improved pre-natal and hospital care as well as efforts of the Joint Committee on Maternal Mortality of the Baltimore City Medical Society and the City Health Department are responsible for the excellent showing, Dr. Williams noted.

Our heart-felt thanks for your patronage, and our best wishes for a joyous holiday season.

Alliance College Ambassador

Mr. Luter, the energetic and amiable little man who teaches Polish, and is also the Proctor of the men's dormitory at the Alliance College, Cambridge Springs, Pa., set a campaign record of his own that at least equals the blistering pace Mr. Truman set while running for the Presidency.

In ten weeks, from June 18 to September 1, of this year, the infatigable Mr. Luter had covered eight states along the Eastern Seaboard, some thirty-five cities, and had come in personal contact with hundreds of people.

"I would have visited more cities but the unusual heat this summer slowed me down considerably," said Mr. Luter modestly.

Acting as the good-will ambassador for the Z.N.P., Mr. Luter would get in touch with respective "Gimnas" in each city and lecture to the different Groups. (P.N.A. lodges), about the advantages that students could gain by attending Alliance College. He especially tried to put across the need for the different societies to sponsor scholarships so that those financially indisposed could attend the school.

The Ambassador has no easy task. The Polish people are shrewd buyers and in order to sell them anything, you must show the value and practicality of your wares.

Especially difficult to convince were mothers, who could not see why their daughters should go to college.

"They go for four years to college spend all that 'pieniedze,' and the first thing they do when they graduate is to get married," said the mothers petulantly.

In reply Mr. Luter would say good-naturedly: "Education will teach your daughter whom to marry and she will also learn how to be a good wife."

Despite the unemployment and the prejudices he had to encounter, the Ambassador for Alliance has done a remarkable job. Most of this year's freshmen, directly or indirectly, were influenced by his tedious labors.

In general, Mr. Luter was optimistic about future students saying: "With the increase of employment and the fact that Alliance is now a recognized four year institution, enrollments are bound to increase in coming years."

Mrs. Anna Topa And Her Hand-knitted Flowers

By MARJA WILCZYNSKA

In a white-trimmed brick row house of 1704 Lancaster St., is living a well known person to the Polish community. Mrs. Anna Topa. She and her husband, John, came to America four months after their marriage in the city of Tarnow, Poland—36 years ago.

What makes Mrs. Topa so well known among her friends and the Polish organizations is her accomplishments of her hand crocheted work. In the Topa home the children are respecting greatly her crocheting work. The whole family was once inspired by their mother's crocheting work of an American flag which she presented to the late President Roosevelt in 1943. The flag is now in the Roosevelt Museum at Hyde Park.

That is not her only patriotic contribution. A somewhat smaller flag she crocheted is in the Polish Veterans Club. Besides the big flag, which she considers her greatest achievement, Mrs. Topa sent the late President Roosevelt a service flag with four stars to represent her sons, who were in the armed forces. She was inspired to make this small flag during the time when her son, Anthony, Nelson and Henry were serving in the Army.

Mrs. Topa had the opportunity of the Maryland flag as Governor William Preston Lane. Then, this year, on May 22nd, she presented a flag to Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro. The 30th month of her spare time was hand-knitting of this flag and as a token of appreciation, the Mayor has presented her with a solid gold medal, which he brought back with him from his recent visit to Rome. Mrs. Topa recently gave a gift of her work to the Polish Home Club.

Besides the flags, curtains, table cloths, sweaters and lamp shades, she is also crocheting flowers. Her expert handwork in this line is displayed throughout her home. If you want to buy hand-knitted flowers, you can obtain them by phoning Mrs. Topa, OR 4490. She has made for the holiday season flowers in many vases with lilies, carnations, tulips, daisies, black-eyed susans, snowballs and other flowers which can beautify the corners and tables in your home.

Money Available For Many In Old Age Or Survivors

Because of the money benefits that derive from social security, this Christmas will be a little brighter for many Baltimoreans.

Through the old-age and survivors insurance program, the Social Security Administration will pay more than $145,000 this Christmas and monthly to more than 9,700 surviving widows and children of Baltimore workers, many of whom reside in West Baltimore.

In addition, more than $287,000 is being paid each month to a total of 12,000 retired workers and their wives who have become 65 years old.

Payments are made possible by means of the contribution of one percent of all wages and salaries of the workers in jobs covered by the Social Security Act and a similar contribution made by their employers and paid every three months to the Federal Government.

However, benefit payments are not paid automatically. A claim must be filed with the Social Security Administration in order to obtain them and claims should be made promptly.

If you believe that payments are due you under the old-age and survivors insurance program, or if you have any questions concerning social security, call, write or visit the Social Security Administration, Field Office, in Room 462 of the main Post Office Building.

They Were Not Ashamed...

They came, ragged and tired, blowing on their cold fingers, carrying their lambs to see the small Christ Child, who was born in a stable. They had come a long way, down from the mountains, leaving the greater part of their flocks to protect themselves from the wolves which had been ravaging the countryside that winter.

They came, and they were not ashamed of their rough garments, their simple gifts. The Child smiled when He saw them. He knew that they, and probably only they, could believe that He was the look-for King, the Savior of Israel. He knew that they could believe, because they were poor, and had no conception of palaces and rich robes of state. They were still naive enough to believe that kingship resided in the person, not in the pomp that attended Him.

It is only those with simple faith who recognize the King when they see Him. Only they will receive the divine invitation to come to the stable. The proud and sophisticated may search for the King, but they will only be in the vicinity of Bethlehem.

This Christmas, as at the first Christmas, the Christ Child will smile upon the simple of heart.

diary as a girl: "There was a lovely pink bag from Mama made with her own hands . . . a pink satin dress and a coat lined with fur" . . . and "I gave Mama a white bag I worked."

What It Does Today

Look back at those Christmases of long ago—at least as well as you can, never having shared them. And then consider ours.

Perhaps we do shop too much and spend too much and give too much. Perhaps, for many people, Christmas observance gets a little out of hand. But oh, for what a lovely reason: because we're carried away with the Christmas spirit!

It makes a work of art of a store window and a bower of delight of many an interior. It decks the busy streets with lighted Christmas trees. It tries to send—though we can't quite do it to all the children of war-spent countries—gifts in the memory of the Christ Child. (I saw $80 piled up in one afternoon at a simple tea given by a "foster-parents for Europe" group.) It fills the air with the beauty of Christmas music. It makes those who love want to give. It melts hearts.

I could go on, but that is enough to show that Christmas as we celebrate it today surely compares favorably with the Christmases of long ago. In our day it is a universal observance shared by all men. It is a beautiful festival, in the spiritual and the material expression of it.

And so, a Merry Christmas to you—and "God bless us, every one."

Gallant Poles

Washington, D.C.—The State Department had this to say about the recent appointment of Commander Rokossowsky as Marshal of Poland:

"The appointment of the Soviet military commander Konstantin K. Rokossowsky as Marshal of Poland and Polish Minister of National Defense has not come as a complete surprise. During the last three months the department has received reports from a variety of sources indicating that such a development was likely.

"The appointment of a leading figure to serve as Soviet pro consul in Poland brings Poland openly and more securely under control and continues to insure priority of the U.S.S.R.'s political and strategic interests over those of Poland. It also provides an interesting example of the vaunted Soviet peace policy.

"It will be recalled that Marshal Rokossowsky was in command of the Soviet Army on the outskirts of Warsaw at the time of the Warsaw uprising in 1944. At that time the gallant Poles who attempted to liberate the capital from the Germans were un-

Senator O'Connor Asks Liner Be Probed

Sen. O'Connor (Democrat) of Md., called upon the government to probe alleged Red propaganda activities of the Polish Gdynia-American Steamship Line and the Justice Department pledged "immediate consideration" of the request.

O'Connor, acting as chairman of a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Immigration and Naturalization which investigated the line, directed his request to Attorney General McGrath and the Federal Communications Commission. The Senator charged last Tuesday that the steamship company and the Polish Embassy in Washington are spending thousands of dollars to broadcast propaganda for the Communist Polish regime over U.S. radio stations in Newark and Chicago.

Names Stations

He named Stations WHBI, Newark, N. J., and WEDC, Chicago, as outlets for the Polish propaganda, and said that the broadcasts were instigated in 1946 "at the demands" of Polish envoys in the U. S. and sponsored by the steamship line.

The flagship of the line is the passenger vessel Batory, upon which top Communist Agent Gerhard Eisler made a stowaway escape to Red Germany last spring.

Appealed Verdict

Eisler also had appealed to the high bench on a contempt of Congress conviction.

O'Connor, in his request to McGrath and the FCC, said that the Senate Subcommittee had reached its conclusions after studying 100 broadcasts sponsored by the steamship line over the U. S. stations.

Canton Council Fetes Children

Five hundred children packed the Linwood Theatre last Saturday in the Canton Area Community Project's Christmas festivity, leaving hundreds of others crowded out who were provided for in an overflow celebration Monday under the sponsorship of the Canton Sportsmen's Club in the Ukrainian Hall on O'Donnell St.

John Loeffler, president of the council and Mark Adams, coordinator, directed the program in the theatre, with the assistance of other leaders of the council.

In addition to the gifts prepared for all the youngsters, there was entertainment galore. Walter Eberlein brought pictures and comedies. Billy Stewart had his accordion and everything it contained in the way of melody. Mary Mihalik sang while Paul Kitko of the Canton Sportsmen's Club stood by waiting his chance to put in his appearance as old Santa himself.

All in all, the party was a huge and howling success, an annual contribution of the Canton Council to the things being done to build community spirit in E. Baltimore.

Displaced Must File Report By Jan. 1st

New York—The Displaced Persons Commission announced recently that more than 100,000 persons had entered the United States by November 1, 1949, under the Displaced Persons Act of 1948. Under this Act reports are required from these people on January 1, 1950. The forms for reporting are now available at all field offices of the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service of the Department of Justice.

In its announcement, the Commission called attention to the fact that these reports are required by law and that criminal penalties exist for willful failure to provide an accurate report. The report covers place of residence, employment and place of employment and should be made by the head of the displaced family (principal applicant), who reports for himself (or herself), and his (or her) spouse and for children who are unmarried, dependent and under twenty-one years of age. A displaced person who immigrated as a single man or single woman, reports only for himself or herself.

A total of four reports over a two-year period is required for each displaced person who immigrates to this country under the Displaced Persons Act. For those who were admitted to this country on or before November 1, 1948, the report due January 1, 1950, will be the third report; for those admitted November 2, 1948, to May 1, 1949, inclusive, it will be the second report; for those who arrived May 2, 1949 to November 1, 1949, inclusive, it will be the first report.

While these reports are due on January 1, 1950, a completed report may be mailed to the Displaced Persons Commission, Washington, D.C. any time within fifteen days before the reporting date. For example, the Commission will accept the reports due January 1 if they are mailed after December 15, 1949.

The Commission urges all required to report to do so and requests that the radio, newspapers, particularly the foreign language press, make known that the forms for the report are now available.

Two-year-old Mickey Holloway stuck his head through a banister and made faces at his older sister. Then he caught his head in that "mean old banister" and was stuck until firemen pried him loose with a crowbar.

A-Hunting We Will Go

In New Jersey a hunter stepped behind a tree, scratched his shoulder with a fur-lined glove, was mistaken by a friend for a raccoon and was shot in the hand. The friend explained that all he saw was the fur-lined glove, then he fired.

And in Pennsylvania another hunter told a game warden that he shot a bear after the animal rushed excitedly down a mountainside and reared on its hind legs as though to attack. The hunter paid a $201.50 fine for shooting bear out of season and then announced he would appeal the fine.

The Dangerous Age

Alfred J. Easton, of Massena, N. Y., died at the age of 73. His brother and three sisters had also died at the age of 73.

For Longer Life

Mrs. Madera Greenleaf celebrated her one hundredth birthday in New York. She gave this formula for a long and happy life: "I love people, especially young people and particularly men. I love men."

The Last Laugh

"Ah," sighed James Elmer Key as he was acquitted of grand larceny charges in Seattle. He testified that a $1,500 ring found in his possession was won in a dice game in Vancouver, B. C.

"Ah, ha," said the United States marshal as he arrested Key and charged him with smuggling the ring into the United States.

A Change Is In Order

An Italian theater has made a change in the title of the "The Outlaw," a motion picture starring Jane Russell. It will be called "Il Mio Corpo Ti Scaldara," which is to say "My Body Will Warm You."

Waiting At The Church

Bill Holland, winner of the 500-mile Indianapolis race last Memorial Day, was 25 minutes late for his wedding in Miami, Fla. The auto racing champion's plane was delayed by a headwind on the flight from Tampa.

A Man Of Few Words

Two masked bandits confronted 75-year-old William McRae. The snow-haired resident of Glasgow uttered two words: "Get out," he ordered. And the bandits got.

Yule Breakfast Menu Can Be Different

Begin with a pretty appetizer. Decorate half a grapefruit with tangerine sections placed between the grapefruit sections to look like a star. Then bring on lots of crisp bacon served with fluffy scrambled eggs.

Or if you want to make something special, bake eggs in tender bacon cups. To prepare these, line the sides and bottom of muffin tins with bacon. Place in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 5 to 10 minutes until bacon is partially cooked.

Drop eggs in bacon-lined muffin tins, sprinkle with salt, and continue baking until eggs are set, about 15 minutes. Top off the menu with a sweet roll Christmas wreath! Overlap flat round sweet rolls on a large platter and add a red Christmas bow or place a few sprigs of holly here and there around the ring.

Soft Talk or Hard?

Unreconstructed Yankees probably will let out a whoop and a holler on hearing that a professor from South Carolina has had a hand in compiling a study of how Americans speak the English language. To their mind, Southerners have done to English what Bavarians have done to German—and that's plenty.

Americans like to feel themselves superior to Europeans when it comes to dialects. And it is true that, while there are differences in speech of, say, a Western cowboy and a Southern field hand, they never get near the point where they cannot understand each other.

But which of the two speaks the better English? An Englishman considers both of them hopeless. And Henry Mencken long ago faced the fact that on this side of the Atlantic it had better be called the American language. For a long time, linguistic values were regional. You spoke as your neighbors spoke. Therefore they believed that you spoke well.

But talkies and the radio have been working changes for several decades. Heard in every corner of the land, they exercise an unobtrusive but powerful force for the standardization of our speech. There are those who feel that Hollywood in particular has worked an improvement. But who can say? Is the language at its best when it is pronounced most precisely? Or should it be less clipped and more musical?

A positive answer would tell whether, at heart, we are a nation of engineers or of poets. Actually, Americans cannot be so neatly pigeonholed, and their speech proves the point.

Teenagers at the park have been busy this fall with so many activities that an additional leader is on the scene to help things out. She is Miss Mary I. Taylor, senior leader of the recreation department. A graduate of Notre Dame of Maryland, she enters this work with high hopes for a most effective service.

Alms include a teenage newspaper, youth's council, drama group, card club, basketball team, dancing events. The center for teenagers is open from 3 to 6 p.m.

Polish Bishop, In Ill Health, Held Prisoner By Communists

The health of Msgr. Zygmunt Kaczynski, Polish priest-statesman-editor who has been held in prison by the Warsaw regime since last May, is causing grave concern, according to information attributed to "authoritative sources" by the Inter-Catholic Press Agency here in a Rome dispatch.

Monsignor Kaczynski was, before 1939, director of the Catholic Press Agency in Warsaw, an organ of the Polish Hierarchy. After the invasion of Poland he succeeded in escaping to France and England where he joined the Polish government-in-exile as Minister of Education. In 1942, he came to the United States where he remained until after the war when he returned to Poland and established the Catholic weekly, Tygodnik Warszawski.

The priest was first arrested in August 1948, on charges of "anti-state" activities but released after 72 hours and kept under strict surveillance by the police. He was arrested last May, shortly after the Polish Hierarchy had issued a pastoral expressing deep concern over the plight of many priests who had been arrested and tried on unspecified charges. Fares Bigged "Trial"

According to the Inter-Catholic Press Agency dispatch, the arrest of Monsignor Kaczynski is part of the Polish regime's strategy to intimidate the Church into bowing to demands of the state. The dispatch says that the Monsignor has been "morally and physically ill-treated" and that he is now being threatened with a trial on rigged-up charges. "The officials who questioned Monsignor Kaczynski vainly tried to get confessions from him which would implicate the Polish Hierarchy," the dispatch says.

The Most Rev. Joseph Gawlina, the Bishop for Poles in exile, is quoted as saying in Rome that the arrest of Monsignor Kaczynski constitutes "an overt act of lawlessness." He asked all Catholics to pray for the imprisoned priest and all other priests and lay people who have fallen victim to communist persecution.

Fire Rules Issued To Save Lives While Celebrating

A joint effort to halt Christmas fire tragedies in Baltimore and vicinity is underway, according to the announcement today of officials of the Baltimore Safety Council and the Baltimore Fire Department.

Thirty-thousand copies of a pamphlet entitled, "Keep Christmas Merry", are being distributed by the Council and the Baltimore firemen, with the assistance of women's groups, food markets, grocery and chain stores.

Prepared by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, 85 John Street, New York City, the booklet is being distributed at all group meetings of the Women's Civic League and by all member clubs of the Baltimore District, Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs.

The Safety Engineering Club of Baltimore is also aiding with the distribution, and all firms and industries of the Safety Council which participate in the Council's Fleet and Inter-Plant Contests are receiving copies. The booklet is also being handed out by cashiers in food markets, through a large distribution system set up by the Fire Department.

Frank F. Dorsey, Chairman of the Fire Prevention Committee of the Safety Council, declared that some copies are still available. They will be mailed without charge to persons sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Safety Council Headquarters, 10 West Chase Street, Baltimore 1.

Among the rules for installing and decorating your tree are:

1. Choose a small tree, instead of a big one. It will be just as pretty and much less hazardous.
2. Keep your tree outdoors until just before Christmas. Install it in the coolest part of the room, away from fireplaces, heaters or radiators.
3. Do not, under any circumstances, use cotton or paper for decoration on the tree or around the tree.
4. Do not place electric trains around the tree.
5. Use electric lights for illumination. Never use candles. See that all wires are in good condition. Use Christmas tree lighting outfits which have been tested by Underwriters Laboratories, Inc. These can be identified by a tag bearing the name of Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. attached to the wires.

6. Do not plug or unplug the electric cords beneath the tree. Provide a switch some distance from the tree to turn the light off or on.
7. Do not leave lights burning when no one is in the house. From time to time inspect the tree to see whether any needles near the lights have started to turn brown. If so, change the position of the lights.
8. When needles start falling, take the tree down and discard it.

YULETIDE GREETINGS
We want you to have something that cannot be placed beneath the tree—our best wishes of the season.

Mother and Son, 5, Found Dead From Gas

Found on the kitchen floor of their gas-filled home in the 2909 block Ashland Avenue early Sunday morning, a young mother and her 5-year old son were pronounced dead at Johns Hopkins Hospital. Northeastern district police identified the victims as Mrs. Henrietta Kowaleski, 28, and Frank, Jr., the wife and young son of Patrolman Frank Kowaleski, assigned to the Northeastern district annex.

Finding his night clerk, Patrolman Kowaleski said he broke the glass in the front door when he arrived home shortly after midnight and found the door locked from the inside.

Fumes Fill Vestibule

Heavy gas fumes filled the vestibule of the house, Kowaleski reported.

Knocking at the rear of the residence, he found his wife and young son lying on the floor and four corners of the gas range turned on full.

After opening doors and windows, the husband called the Fire Department for an ambulance and asked Northeastern district police for assistance.

Patrolmen Charles Zouk and Joseph Stogmond responded to the call and reported they found a kitchen chair near the stove.

Apparently Held Child

The officers said Mrs. Kowaleski had apparently held the boy on her lap while she sat on the chair and later collapsed onto the floor.

The Fire Department's emergency squad worked over the victims for more than an hour without success.

Kowaleski, who has been a member of the Police Department since 1947, told police his wife seemed to be in good spirits when he left for duty about 2 P.M. on Saturday. The Kowaleskis had been married for nine years.
