

Unprecedented National Conference on '68 Riots to Foster Discussion on Civil Rights

Sessions and Presenters Announced for Baltimore '68: Riots and Rebirth at University of Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Feb. 12 /PRNewswire-USNewswire/ -- The University of Baltimore has announced the sessions and presenters who will participate in Baltimore '68: Riots and Rebirth, an unprecedented national conference in Baltimore from April 3-5, 2008 on the causes and effects of the 1968 riots.

Baltimore '68: Riots and Rebirth will begin with an Opening Plenary at 6 pm on April 3rd followed by the Maryland Film Premier of Pip and Zastrow. Daily plenaries followed by concurrent sessions will be held throughout the conference and will feature authors, students, musicians, professors, attorneys, and advocates.

"One of the primary goals of Baltimore '68: Riots and Rebirth is to place the events of 40 years ago within a larger historical context to allow a deeper, more comprehensive understanding of where we have been and where we are going," said Jessica Elfenbein, coordinator of Baltimore '68: Riots and Rebirth and Associate Provost for University Engagement.

Over the past several months, UB received proposals from nearly 100 potential presenters to be considered for panels, roundtables, poster sessions, film screenings, art installations, musical compositions, papers, and workshops. Those submissions were from Baltimore area high school students as well as faculty and students from universities such as Boston, Columbia, Howard, Rutgers, and Virginia Tech, and local institutions including UB, Coppin, Towson, MICA, UMBC, Loyola, Morgan, Johns Hopkins, CCBC, and University of Maryland.

Baltimore '68: Riots and Rebirth is sponsored by UB along with the Maryland Humanities Council, the Annie E. Casey Foundation, WYPR Radio, and Baltimore Collegetown Network.

For media inquires and to obtain a copy of the conference schedule, contact Jamie Watt, Profiles, Inc. at 410-243-3790.

The University of Baltimore is a member of the University System of Maryland and comprises the School of Law, the Yale Gordon College of Liberal Arts and the Merrick School of Business.

Unprecedented National Conference on '68 Riots to Foster Discussion on Civil Rights

Sessions and Presenters Announced for Baltimore '68: Riots and Rebirth at University of Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Feb. 12 /PRNewswire-USNewswire/ -- The University of Baltimore has announced the sessions and presenters who will participate in Baltimore '68: Riots and Rebirth, an unprecedented national conference in Baltimore from April 3-5, 2008 on the causes and effects of the 1968 riots.

Baltimore '68: Riots and Rebirth will begin with an Opening Plenary at 6 pm on April 3rd followed by the Maryland Film Premier of Pip and Zastrow. Daily plenaries followed by concurrent sessions will be held throughout the conference and will feature authors, students, musicians, professors, attorneys, and advocates.

"One of the primary goals of Baltimore '68: Riots and Rebirth is to place the events of 40 years ago within a larger historical context to allow a deeper, more comprehensive understanding of where we have been and where we are going," said Jessica Elfenbein, coordinator of Baltimore '68: Riots and Rebirth and Associate Provost for University Engagement.

Over the past several months, UB received proposals from nearly 100 potential presenters to be considered for panels, roundtables, poster sessions, film screenings, art installations, musical compositions, papers, and workshops. Those submissions were from Baltimore area high school students as well as faculty and students from universities such as Boston, Columbia, Howard, Rutgers, and Virginia Tech, and local institutions including UB, Coppin, Towson, MICA, UMBC, Loyola, Morgan, Johns Hopkins, CCBC, and University of Maryland.

Baltimore '68: Riots and Rebirth is sponsored by UB along with the Maryland Humanities Council, the Annie E. Casey Foundation, WYPR Radio, and Baltimore Collegetown Network.

For media inquires and to obtain a copy of the conference schedule, contact Jamie Watt, Profiles, Inc. at 410-243-3790.

The University of Baltimore is a member of the University System of Maryland and comprises the School of Law, the Yale Gordon College of Liberal Arts and the Merrick School of Business.
